Western Carolina University

Cullowhee, North Carolina

Volume 50

"It's Just Natural"

It's only natural that people at Western Carolina University are important. While academics plays a large role in student, faculty and administrator's lives, the people behind the academics are just as important. And so are the football players. And so are the many student organizations. And so are the fraternities and sororities. And so is the individual. And so on . . .

One of the most interesting features WCU has are its people; therefore, it can be great fun to go people watching, whether it be a frustrated and sleepy soul in the library or a fraternity freezing its buns in the mighty Tuckaseigee. Throughout the 1982 Catamount, the reader will get a chance to do a great deal of people watching and find out "just how naturally" people behave the way they do and do the things they do.

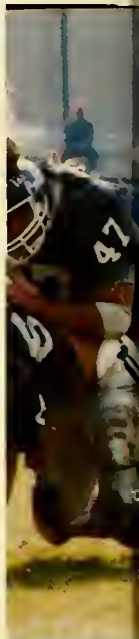

Table of Contents

It's just natural that Western Carolina University is alive. Neither the nation's economy nor shaky foreign relations can dampen the spirit and vitality that perhaps sets Western aside from other schools.

Luckily, most students can shed their cloaks of apathy and experience this sense of vitality which can add so much to life. Students apply this aliveness to sports, special events, and their personal relationships, clubs and who knows what else . . .

"It's Just Natural"

It's just natural that students work together as groups and individuals to form a unique kind of strength on campus. From running in a mini-marathon to emceeing a concert in a bathrobe like Ben Burr, talents, interests and opinions all make up the power of the students. From residence halls to fraternities, from GDI's to guitar players, Western Carolina University is strong.

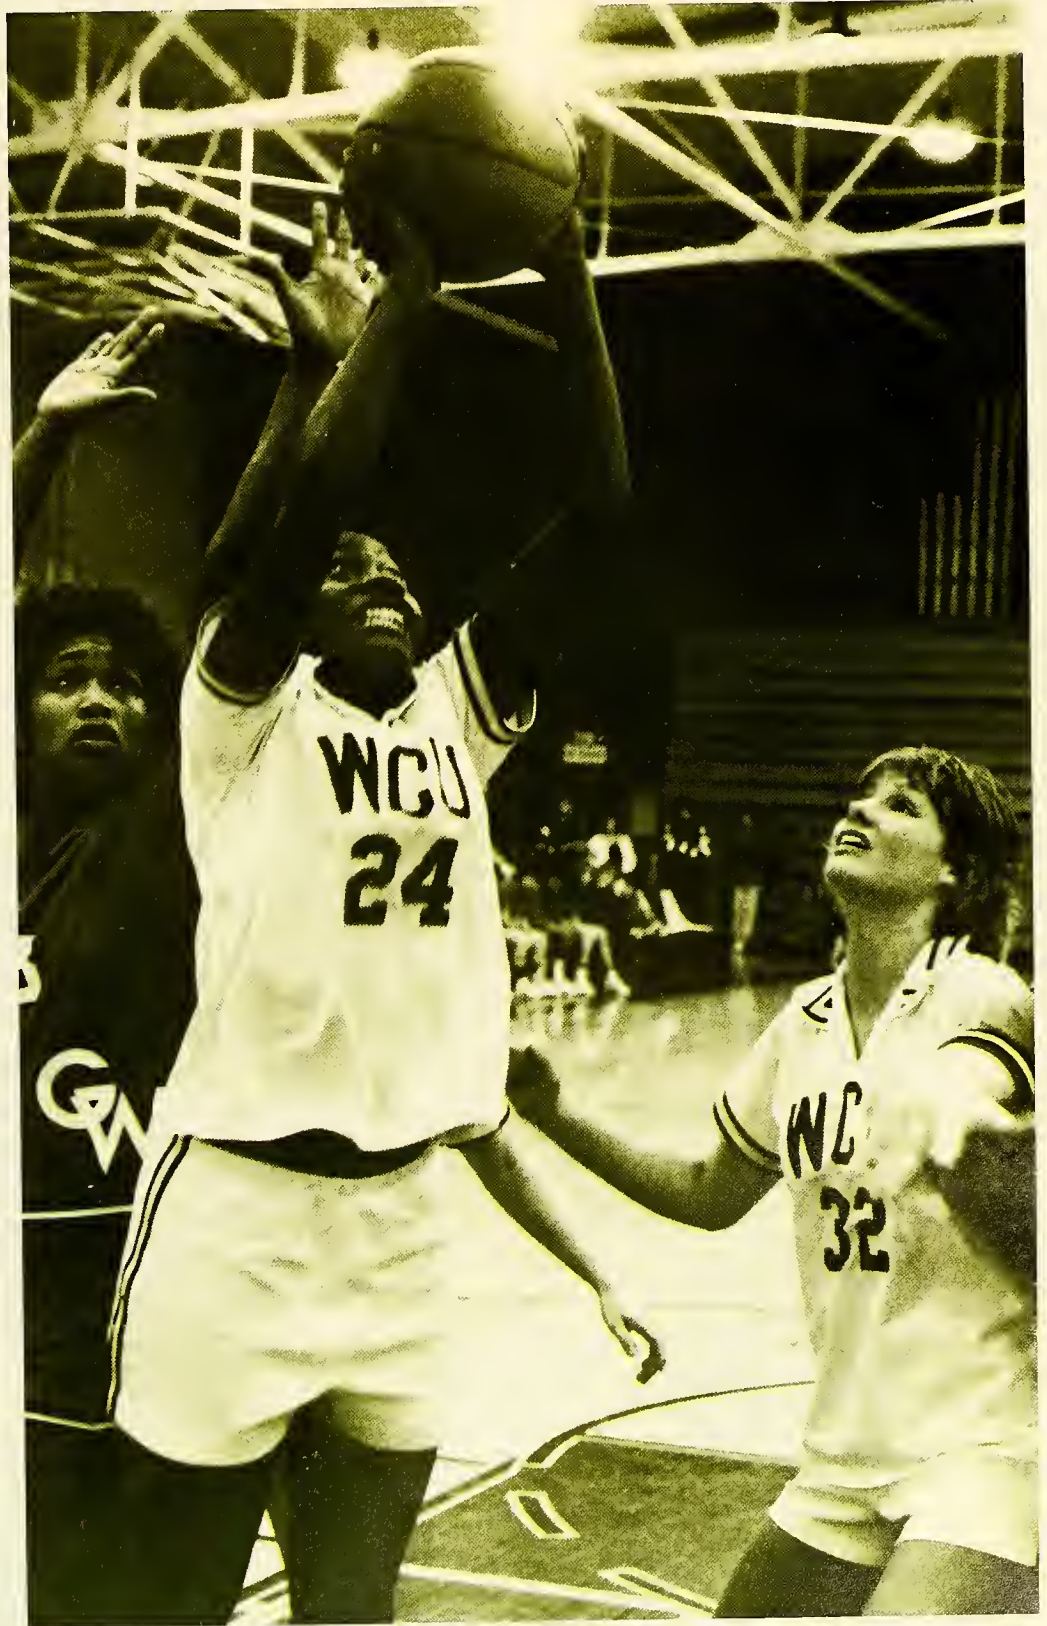

"It's Just Natural"

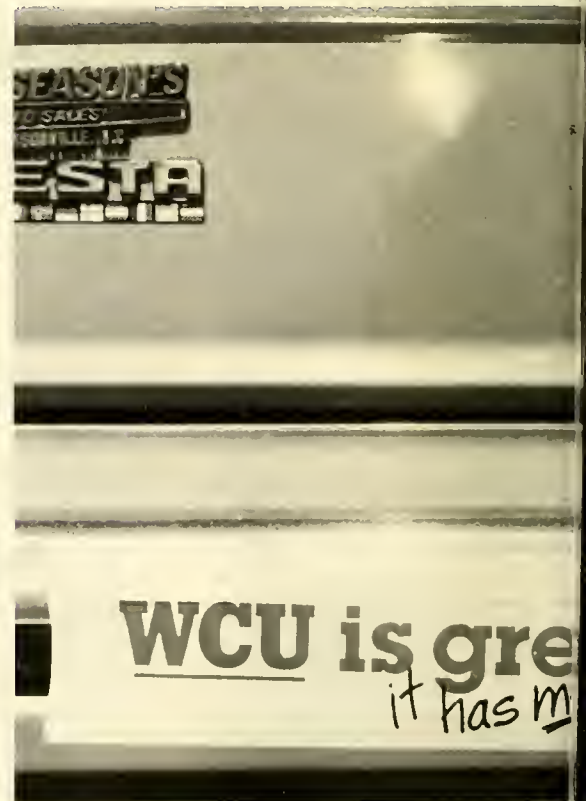

It's just natural that students anywhere will involve themselves in a number of outside activities. From Homecoming to Charlie Daniels to basketball, students always manage to find something to do. And any and every WCU student will tell you that that's not always so easy. Cullowhee's only contribution to neon seems to be the Wachovia Bank and Hardee's sign. Sounds exciting, huh! Nevertheless, students always are busy with something or another. It could be private or fraternal parties, wilderness outings or going to the movies. (Or as musical group Cullowhee put it, in this area you "go to the movies, go to the movies or go to the movies.") Students muster quite a bit of spirit during many of these activities. In the upper left picture Chancellor H.F. "Cotton" Robinson stands on with former homecoming queen Kathy Bond following the crowning of the new queen Cathy Watkins. Center: homecoming parade invades Cullowhee. Bottom left and right: Charlie Daniels Band gets Cullowhee rockin' and rollin'. Far right: Catamount spirit hits Cullowhee women's basketball style.

— “It’s Just Natural” —

Take a closer look . . .

It's just natural that if you take time out from what you are doing and look at the world with the eyes of a photographer, there's no telling what you will find . . .

"It's Just Natural"

Color, moods and fresh air make up the silent allure of Cullowhee and the surrounding mountains. Quietly and subtly, these places become a part of each student as they provide pleasant escape from the rat race known as college.

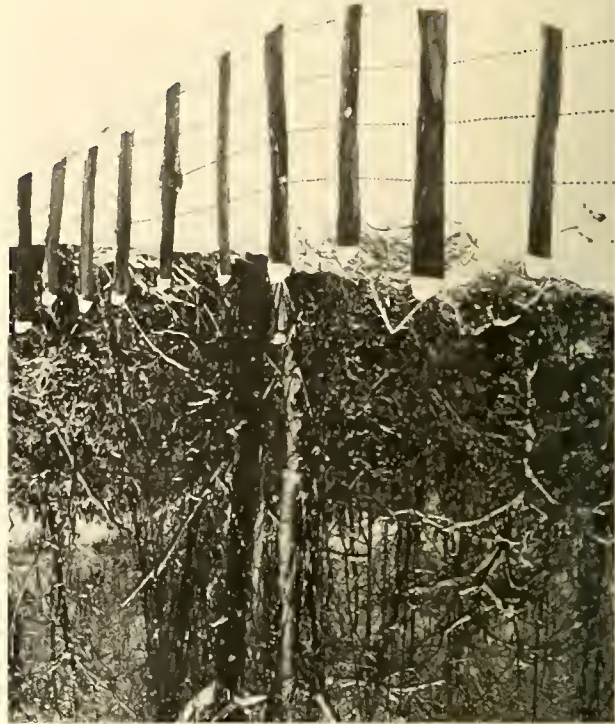

"To the body and mind which have been cramped by noxious work or company, nature is medicinal and restores them. The tradesmen, the attorney comes out of the din and craft of the street and sees the sky and woods, and is a man again . . . We are never tired as long as we can see far enough." — Emerson

"It's Just Natural"

It's just natural that Western Carolina University is located in one of the most scenic parts of the country.

Skiing and sledding are both large parts of winter recreation in Cullowhee. Students usually ski at Cataloochee in Waynesville, Sapphire Valley near Cashiers, or at one of the many slopes in the Boone area. Unfortunately, however, the agony of bumps and bruises often replaces the "elation of gliding down crystalline slopes with the wind whipping one's hair."

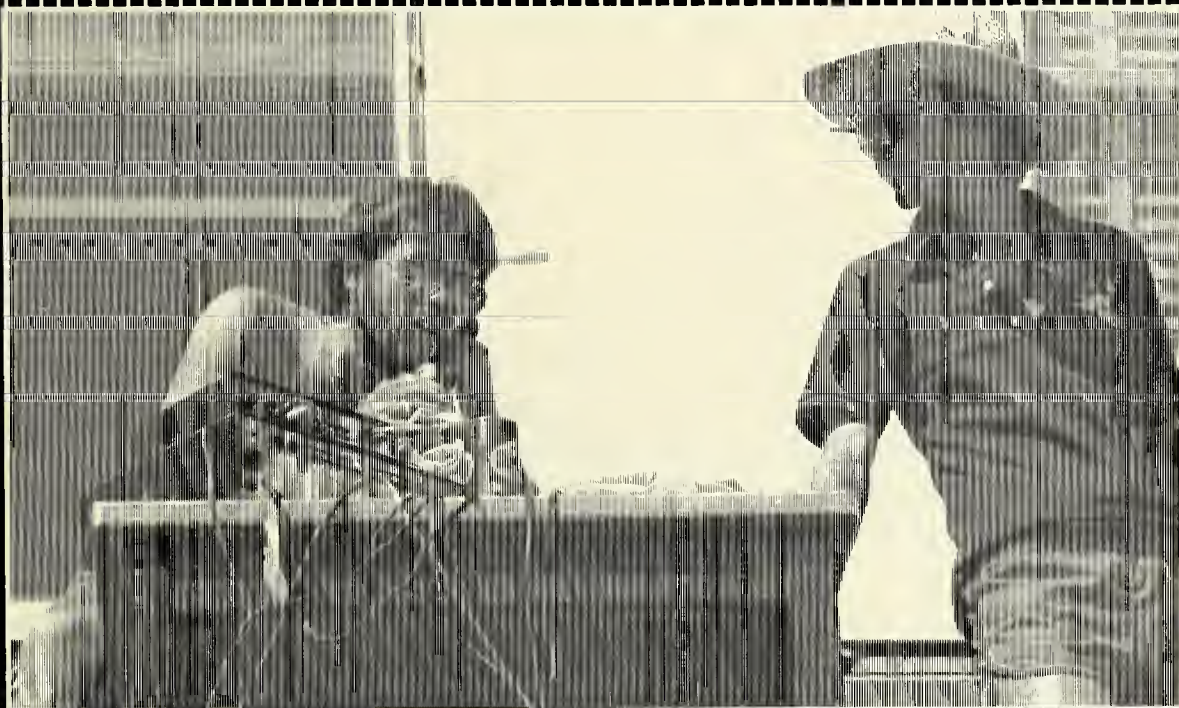

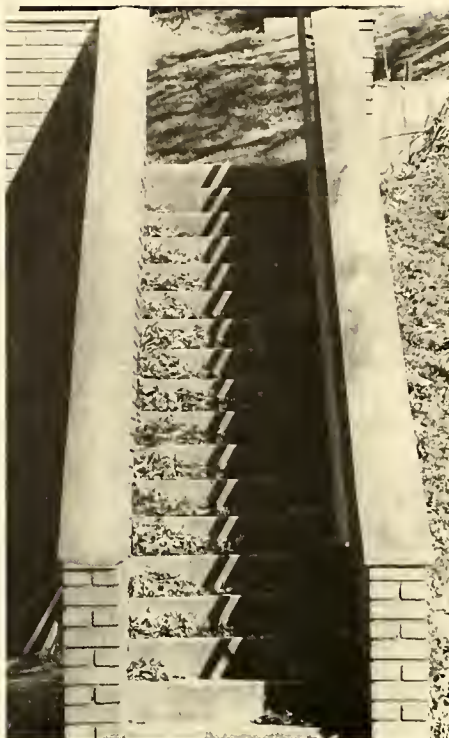

Not only do students enjoy the snows that blanket the mountains each year, but students enjoy hiking, backpacking and just relaxing near lakes, streams and waterfalls. While academics will always be a large part of WCU, students could never ignore nature at their back door.

"It's Just Natural"

"Cullowhee is both the worst and best place in the world. Definitely unique, it could stand a little more hustle and bustle — but not too much."

— A Student

Events

Western Carolina University is an active place with speakers coming from all over, fraternity and sorority-sponsored events, events sponsored by student and faculty and special days such as ROTC Day or Mountain Heritage Day. Shown here, clockwise from upper left, are Special Olympics, Health Fair, SGA elections, campaigning for elections, a fire in Forest Hills — yes even bad events occur occasionally, and Purple Day.

Tuckaseigee River Race

Held each spring along with the Tuckaseigee Road Race, this highly competitive event involves a number of students as well as local residents, their skills ranging from novice to expert.

Homecoming 1981

Homecoming at Western Carolina: always a gala and well-attended event, and this year was no exception. Beautiful girls, a colorful parade, and alumni and current students dressed in their best possible costumes — always the tops in fashion. A few years ago Homecoming brought out women in gauchos; this year it was blazers, skirts — wool and silk, and feminine high heels. The men always look good at Homecoming.

While observing the dressing-up process, however, one can not forget the main reason for Homecoming: FOOTBALL. It never ceases to amaze the newcomer to Cullowhee how EJ Whitmire stadium becomes so filled at Homecoming. Where do those fans come from? People come from miles around — parents, faculty, and just plain supporters — in addition to all the students and alumni to watch Western each year, and it just goes to show the world the pride that underlies such events as Homecoming.

Mountain Heritage Day

A day of sun, fun, laughter and crafts, tobacco-spitting, log-cutting and dog-showing. Who could ask for more? Mountain Heritage Day always brings a great crowd: business men from all over Western Carolina, individual craftsmen, local people and professors, students and parents. The event is never without some authentic apple cider pressing and down-home clogging and fiddle playing. An event such as Mountain Heritage gives everyone insight into the Appalachian ways of life and living.

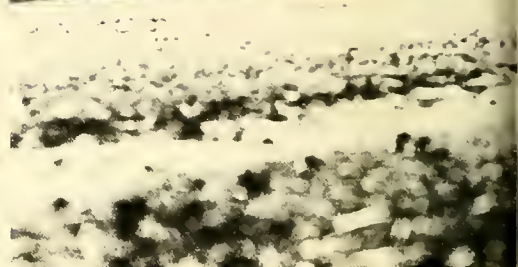

Events

Theta Xi Road Race

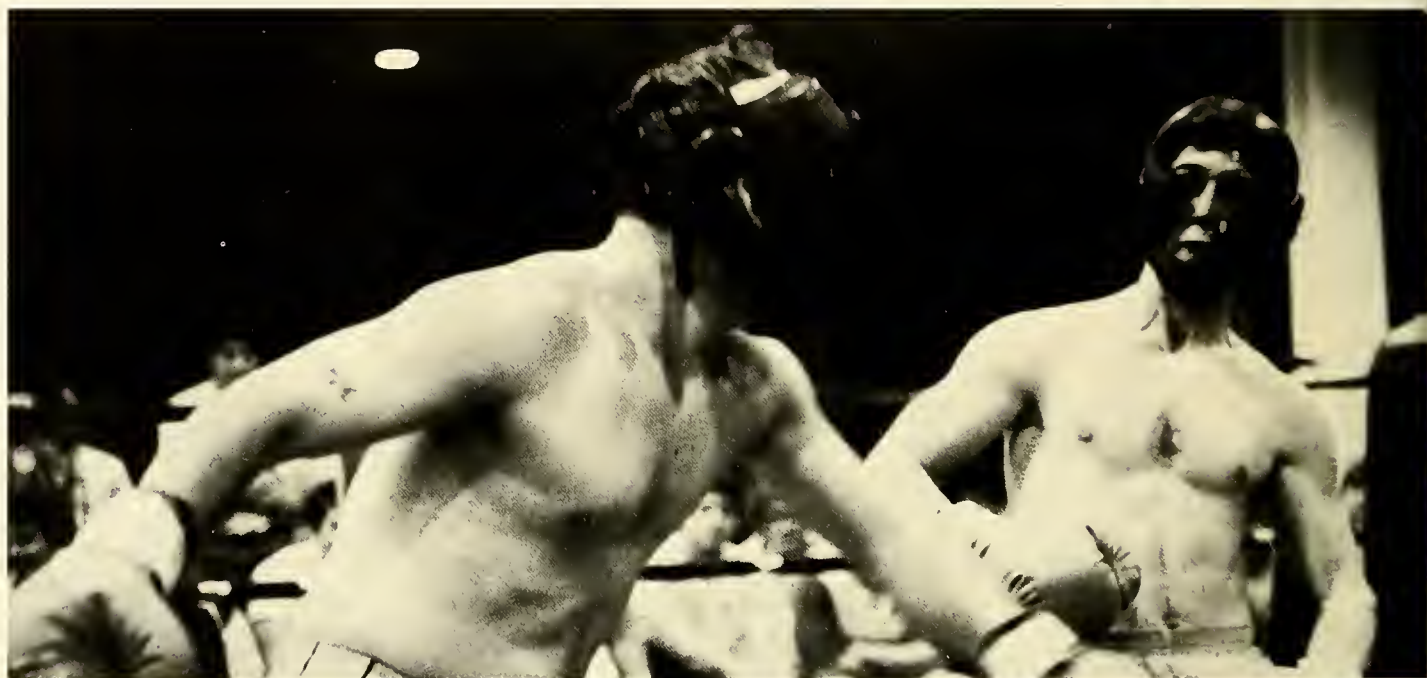

Each year, students, professors, and members of the local community participate in the grueling Theta Xi Road Race.

Boxing

It's just natural that at Western Carolina University fraternities — here the TKE fraternity — sponsor campus-wide competitive activities. The TKE Boxing Matches have been an annual event for quite some time.

ROTC Day

ROTC DAY, an annual event at WCU, brings helicopters, machine guns, and other assorted artillery to the Cullowhee valley. The event involves schools in other areas, in addition to Western's ROTC.

The purpose of the Army ROTC program is to commission students as Second Lieutenants in the Active Army, National Guard, and the U.S. Army Reserve.

The program is divided into two parts — the basic course and the advanced course. The former consists of four 1-hour courses that provide students with a general understanding of the Army and an introduction to basic military skills and leadership experiences. The advanced course includes four 3-hour courses designed to increase levels of military skills and further develop leadership abilities.

The ROTC Department also sponsors the Pershing Rifle precision drill team, the Ranger Platoon, and the university Rifle Team.

Special Olympics

Running, jumping, throwing and "wheeling" are all a part of the annual Special Olympics. Western is one of many hosts of this track and field event for handicapped, retarded, and special children. As one can see here, every WCU aide that helped with the olympics certainly thought the participants were "special."

It's just natural that few expressions in the world can rival the smile on the winners' faces as an aide pins a ribbon on their collar.

Lambda Chi Raft Race

Each September, independents and Greeks alike brave cold river water to participate in the annual Lambda Chi Raft Race. Laughs, beer and numb limbs abound as groups of students pilot their handmade rafts down the mighty Tuckaseigee.

Female Madness

Pike's Peak

Relays, beer drinking and sun-soaking were all a part of the activities at Pike's Peak. An annual Greek event, Pike's Peak, gave students a chance to get eggs on their hands and beer down their chin.

LMP Presents Little River

and
Poco

Band

Over 3,200 jammed Reid Gymnasium on October 16, a sell-out crowd, to hear a mixture of melodious music from rock bands Little River Band and Poco. As the warm-up band, Poco performed commendably, or as they call it "rocking and rolling this joint," although their performance was hindered by a damaged power cable to the sound system. After a 20-minute delay, however, they had Cullowhee fans happily shouting in their seats and in a great mood for the overseas Little River Band. LRB played several well-received old hits such as "Cool Change," "Happy Anniversary" and encore "Lady," as well as material from their new album "Time Exposure."

— “It’s Just Natural” —

Charlie Daniels Band

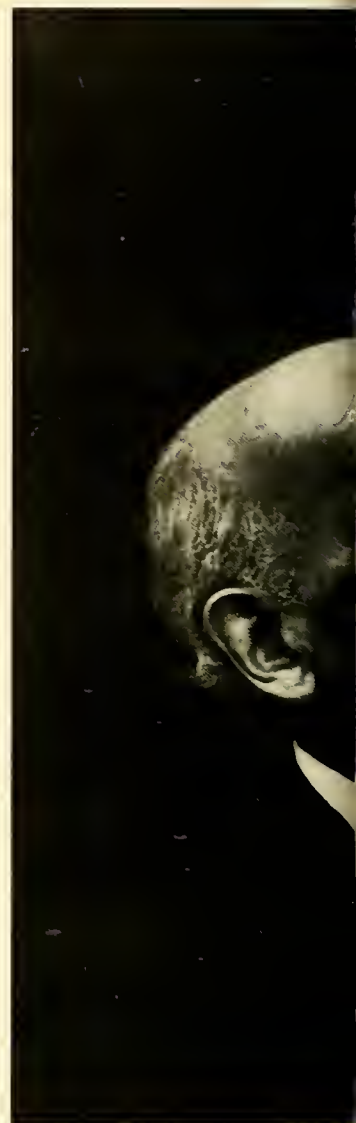

Preservation Hall Jazz Band

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band, the New Orleans musicians who have traveled the world playing the music they created decades ago, performed Sunday January 31 in Reid Gymnasium. In their sixties, seventies and eighties, the band members play with the spirit and joy that is symbolic of New Orleans jazz. They are the musicians who not only made musical history with New Orleans jazz, but are still making it. It's the same sweet-sad-gentle-exuberant music that has remained alive in New Orleans' famous Preservation Hall.

Historic Preservation Hall at 726 St. Peter Street in New Orleans, is more of an idea than a structure. Pretty it's not — but to many the music is beautiful when judged by the superb sounds that draw lovers of jazz to it each night. The building needs painting, floor boards are loose, the chairs are old benches and odd kitchen chairs. The same wicker basket which held donations in the early days of the hall still decorates their home stage.

Tim Setimi Captures Cullowhee

Mime Tim Setimi goes a long way to please his audiences, and he certainly did so this winter when he visited Cullowhee. While adept in the traditional forms of mimicry, Setimi prefers to pull such non-traditional stunts as showing a talking nose that does imitations of the video game Pac Man and rolling through Brown cafeteria on roller skates. This winter was not Setimi's first visit to Cullowhee. The Atlanta-based mime visited Cullowhee a year ago, and each time he visits he pulls a full-day show of activities ranging from spontaneous mime classes in McKee Plaza at midday to a dinner-time free-for-all in one or both cafeterias.

Two Eventful and Productive Seasons

WCU brings a lot of culture and affluent people to Western North Carolina. Besides providing excellent theatrical productions performed by the University Players spring, fall and summer, WCU brings speakers of all types to Jackson County. These speakers, inspirational, motivational, political, or just plain scholarly, enrich the lives of students and faculty alike. Outside the university community, one could never expect to find such affluent and innovative speakers that are as financially and geographically convenient to so many people. Here, the U.S. South African Ambassador speaks in Forsythe; Micheal Broome, a motivational speaker entertains students, and Governor Jim Hunt addresses Western North Carolina Tomorrow.

Mr. Anonymous Baffles Cullowhee

This February, students wore up to hear an odd, original production over WWCU student FM radio. This song was entitled the "Greek Song," and it parodied the stereo-typical image of fraternity life. Strangely enough, however, some disc jockeys at WWCU said that they received more requests from fraternities than anyone else to play the one song that parodied fraternity and sorority life.

It's a strange world, undoubtedly. The author and performer of the song chose to remain anonymous throughout spring semester, although his buddies in the art department didn't help his anonymity. He gave the Catamount yearbook permission to use his name.

The student was Zane Brock.

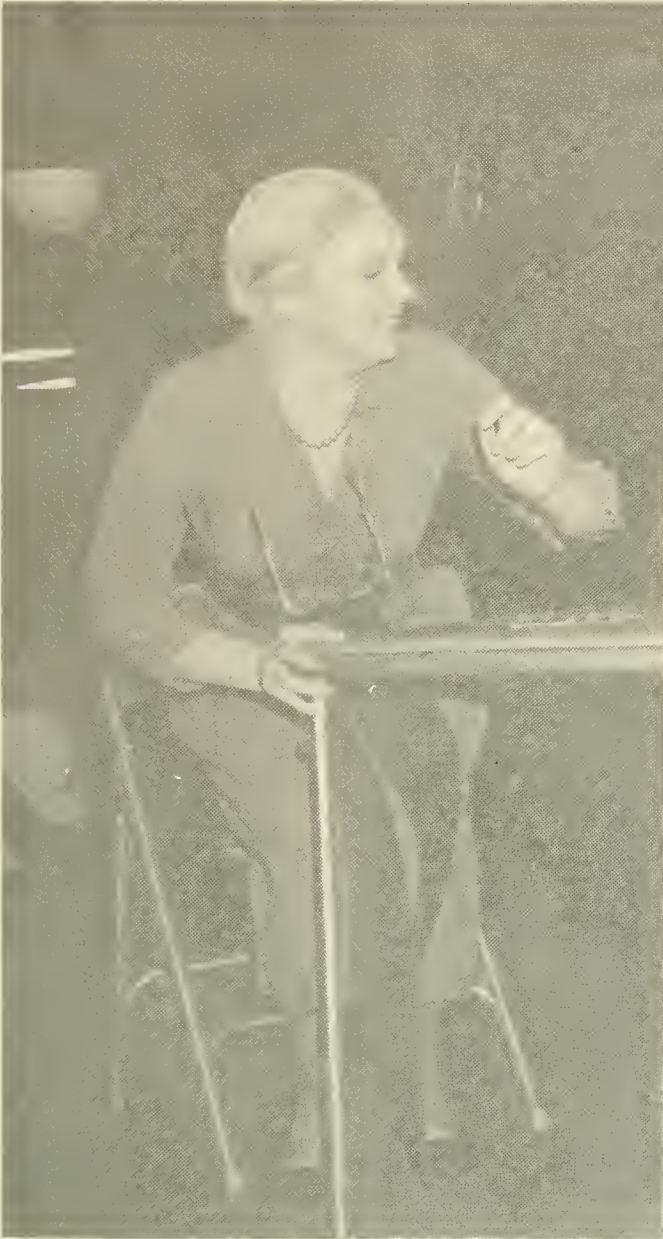

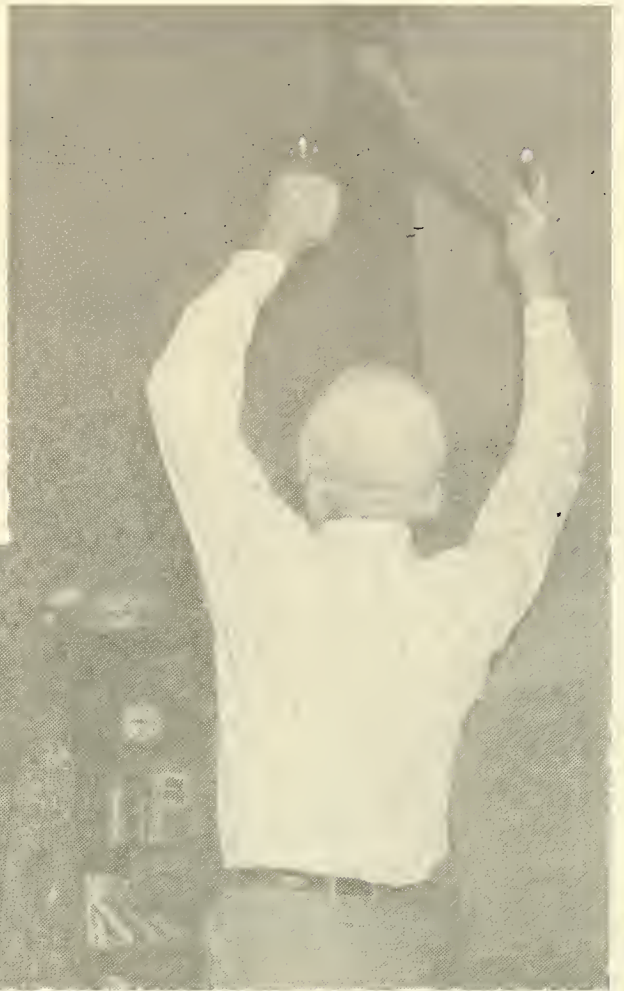

"The Greek Song"

The TKE's keep TKing my ladies away./All the Delta Zetas and the Sigma Kaps say./"Sorry I'm busy that day."/The Lambda Chi's caught my last girl's eyes/And things are getting tight/When no one wants to go parking/'Cause since that time in the Pika truck/Nothing else feels right./Things just might get better, If I got me some letters, But it's all Greek to me.

I had a steady girl named Fifi./A sweeter girl you'd never see see./One Friday night I was out of town/I didn't know what was coming down./Fifi would up with some louse/Doing "God knows what" at the KA house/Now she's avoiding me me./She can't be found at Brown/And she's dodging me at Dodson/

I heard she was at the new library but then/It took me two hours to figure out how to get in./By then she had left for some shindig/With some low-down girl-stealing Delta Sig/I guess it's me and the TV again tonight./I had another girl named Jane/Tried to take her to the basketball game./But I was A through L and she was M through Z/I don't guess she'll be going with me/Jane said, "Sorry I can't be seeing you/I'm too busy trying to pledge Phi Mu./All these frat rats are driving me insane/She just frowns at Caps and Gowns/Tells the SGAs to stay away/She said meet me at Joyner but then I found/The doggone building had burnt to the ground./I wanted to take her to some nice bar/But Traffic and Security impounded my car./I wonder what my roommate's doing tonight?

North Carolina Dance Theatre

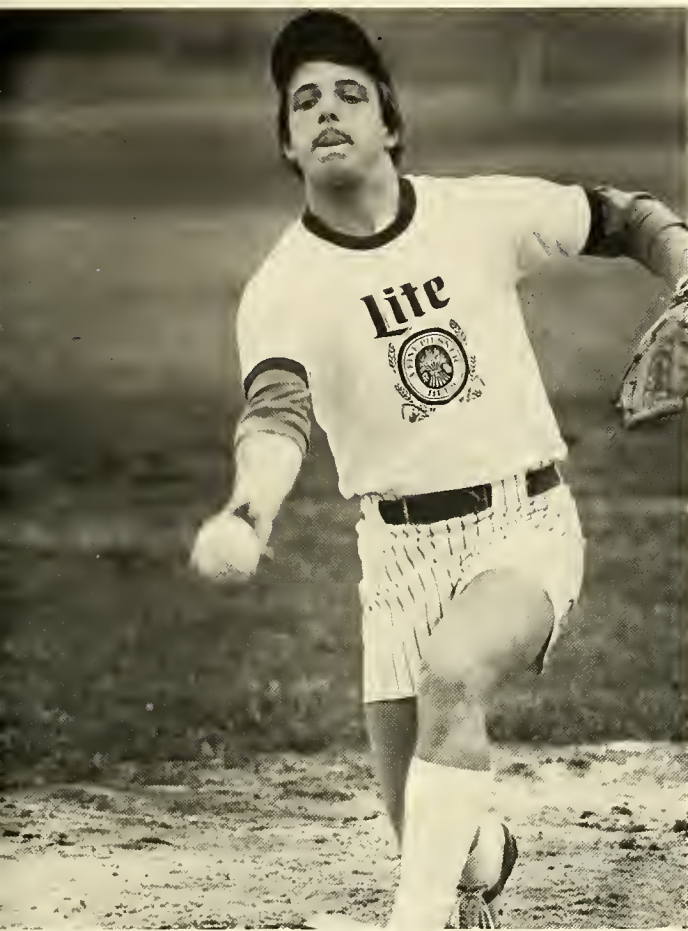

It's just natural that at a campus like Western, great productionists such as the N.C. Dance Theatre will visit from time to time. This production brought all the beauty of ballet to the Tuckaseigee valley.

Golden Anniversary

The Catamount yearbook is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this year. In connection with our celebration we would like to pay tribute to the class of 1982 and the rest of the student body for making this edition of the Catamount possible, for without the students, we certainly could not have a yearbook. But we would also like to thank all the preceding Catamount staffs — all the way back to 1932 — for making sure a yearbook was published each year come rain, shine, fire or flood. Sitting in our offices in the Student Union, we can only imagine the countless hours of blood, sweat, tears, headaches and perhaps Budweiser that went into each edition of the yearbook — sometimes known as the drearbook. Unfortunately, however, we are denied the opportunity to reminisce about the old offices in Joyner firsthand, because all tangible signs that a yearbook office even existed before the fire of January 1981 that devastated the building are gone now. Joyner building, built in 1913, housed the Catamount Western Carolinian, Circle K, Organization of Ebony Students, the Outing Club, and the studios of some art professors, at the time of its fire; Joyner also had quite a place and still has quite a place in the hearts of many WCU alumni, because at one time it could have been described as the hubbub of campus with the library, gymnasium, and classrooms contained within its majestic walls. While even skeletal remains of Joyner Building are gone from “the hill” now, however, at least we can think about yearbooks of years past and appreciate the work that went into each publication. Take it from one tired, burnt-out editor on the Catamount's Golden Anniversary: working on the yearbook is a definite experience.

KA Classic Softball Tournament

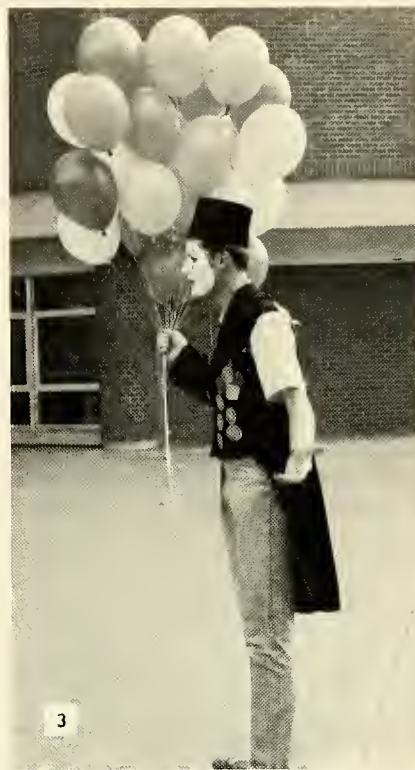

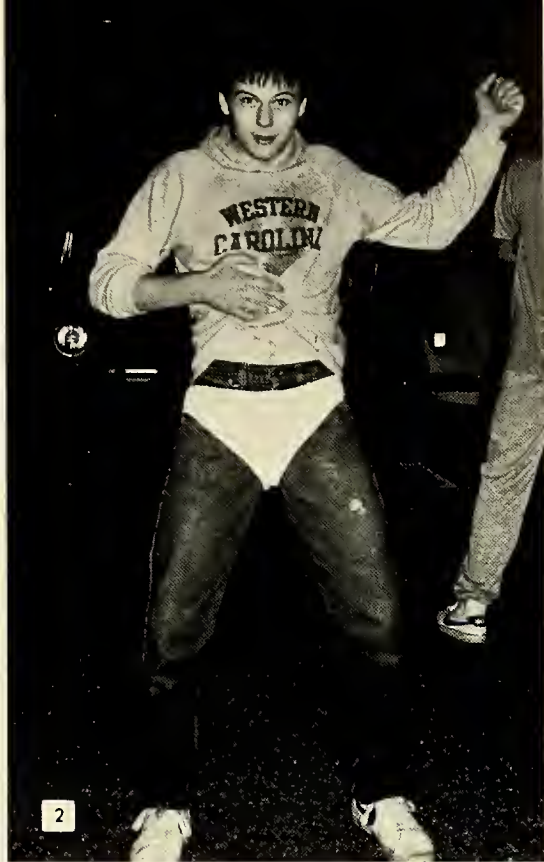

"It's Just Natural"

It's just natural that although Cullowhee is a small town, it is certainly not your run-of-the-mill town. Cullowhee is as unique as the name "Cullowhee," which, by the way, means Valley of the Lillies. The Cullowhee Lily is a flower now very rare that once grew in abundance along the banks of the Tuckaseegee in the Cullowhee valley, and hence the name.

While Cullowhee is a town of great character, it is also a town, or community, of characters. Here are just a few of the unique characters one may encounter in Cullowhee or the surrounding area.

In picture one, an eager, well-trained mutt catches frisbee at Mountain Heritage Day. In picture two, a triumphant student displays prize from "panty raid" on campus. In photo 3, student distributes balloons at anti-alcoholism "I've had enough" day. Conrad "Cooney" Frady converses with females at baseball game in photo 6. Cooney has been well-known in Cullowhee for quite a while. In photo 5, a distinguished gentleman reminisces at Mountain Heritage. In photo 4, a strange bird smokes cigarette at Belk Fiber Arts Exhibit.

It's just natural that you'll meet more faces than you'll ever get to know . . . even at a small university like Western.

Here are a few engaging faces out of the crowd.

SPORTS

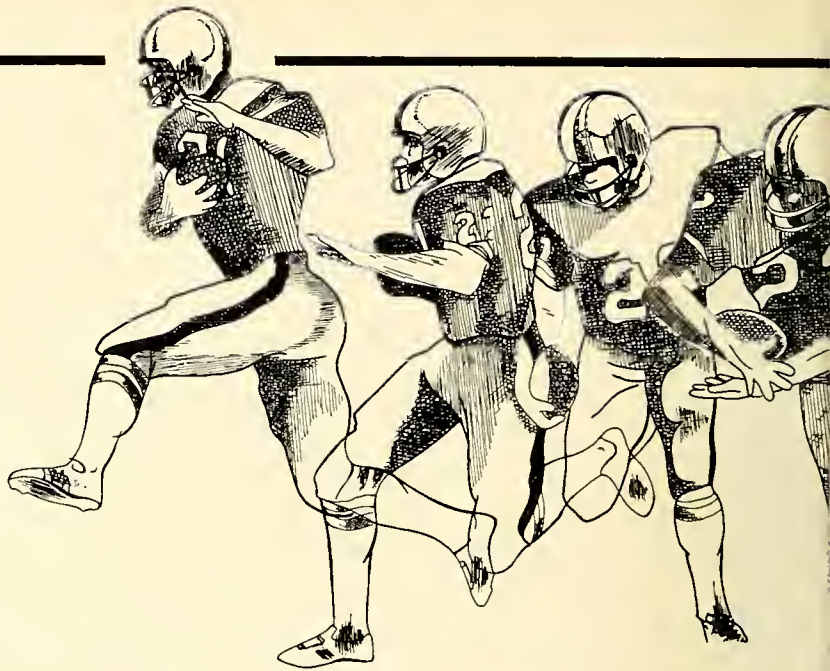

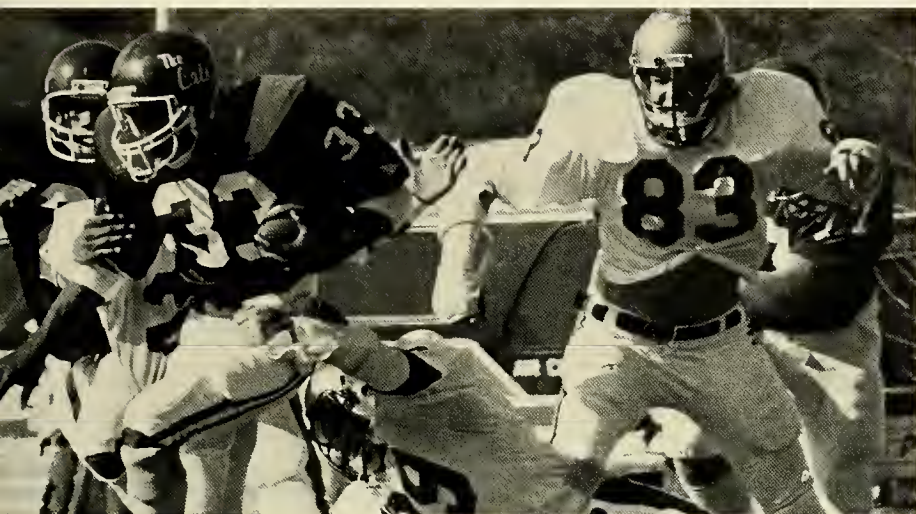

Football

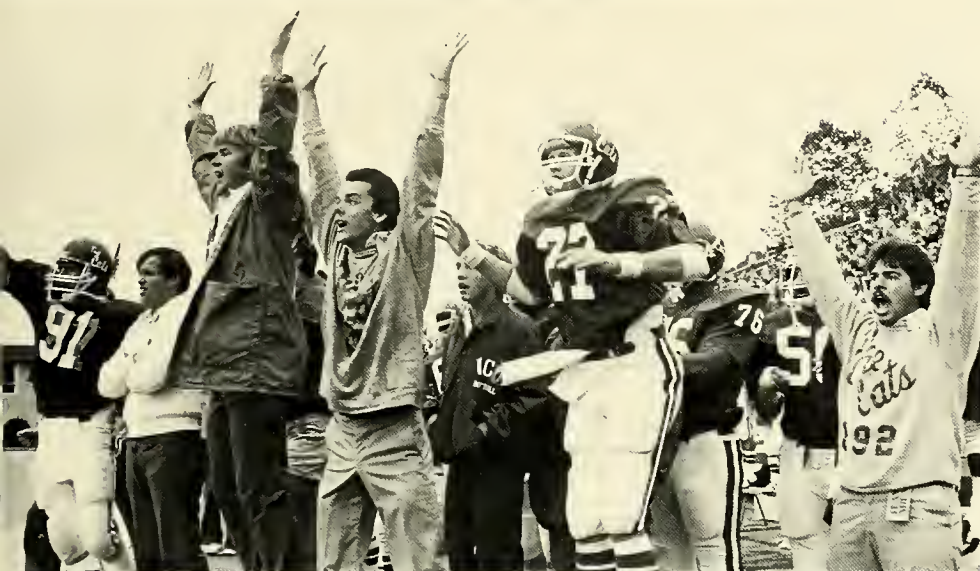

Record 4-7. The football team lost first five games, but won three of their last four in convincing fashion. At Florida State WCU scored first, but lost by a score of 56-31. Ronnie Mixon completed 65% of his passes for over 1800 yards. He also completed 25 of 41 passes for 322 yards at FSU. Anthony James had been injured and didn't start- at Marshall but gained 243 yards en route to a 38 to 21 win for the Cats at Marshall. Jeff Dean led the conference in pass receiving with 60 catches. Dean Biasucci kicked 12 field goals. He also set a school record with a 51-yarder. Melvin dorsey, a transfer from Georgia, ran for over 100 yards in 3 different games. He gained 911 yards all together. Bob Waters record went to 75-56-4 with a good recruiting year. Scott Strickland was named to the All-Academic team. Eddie McGill was drafted by St. Louis Cardinals in the 10th round.

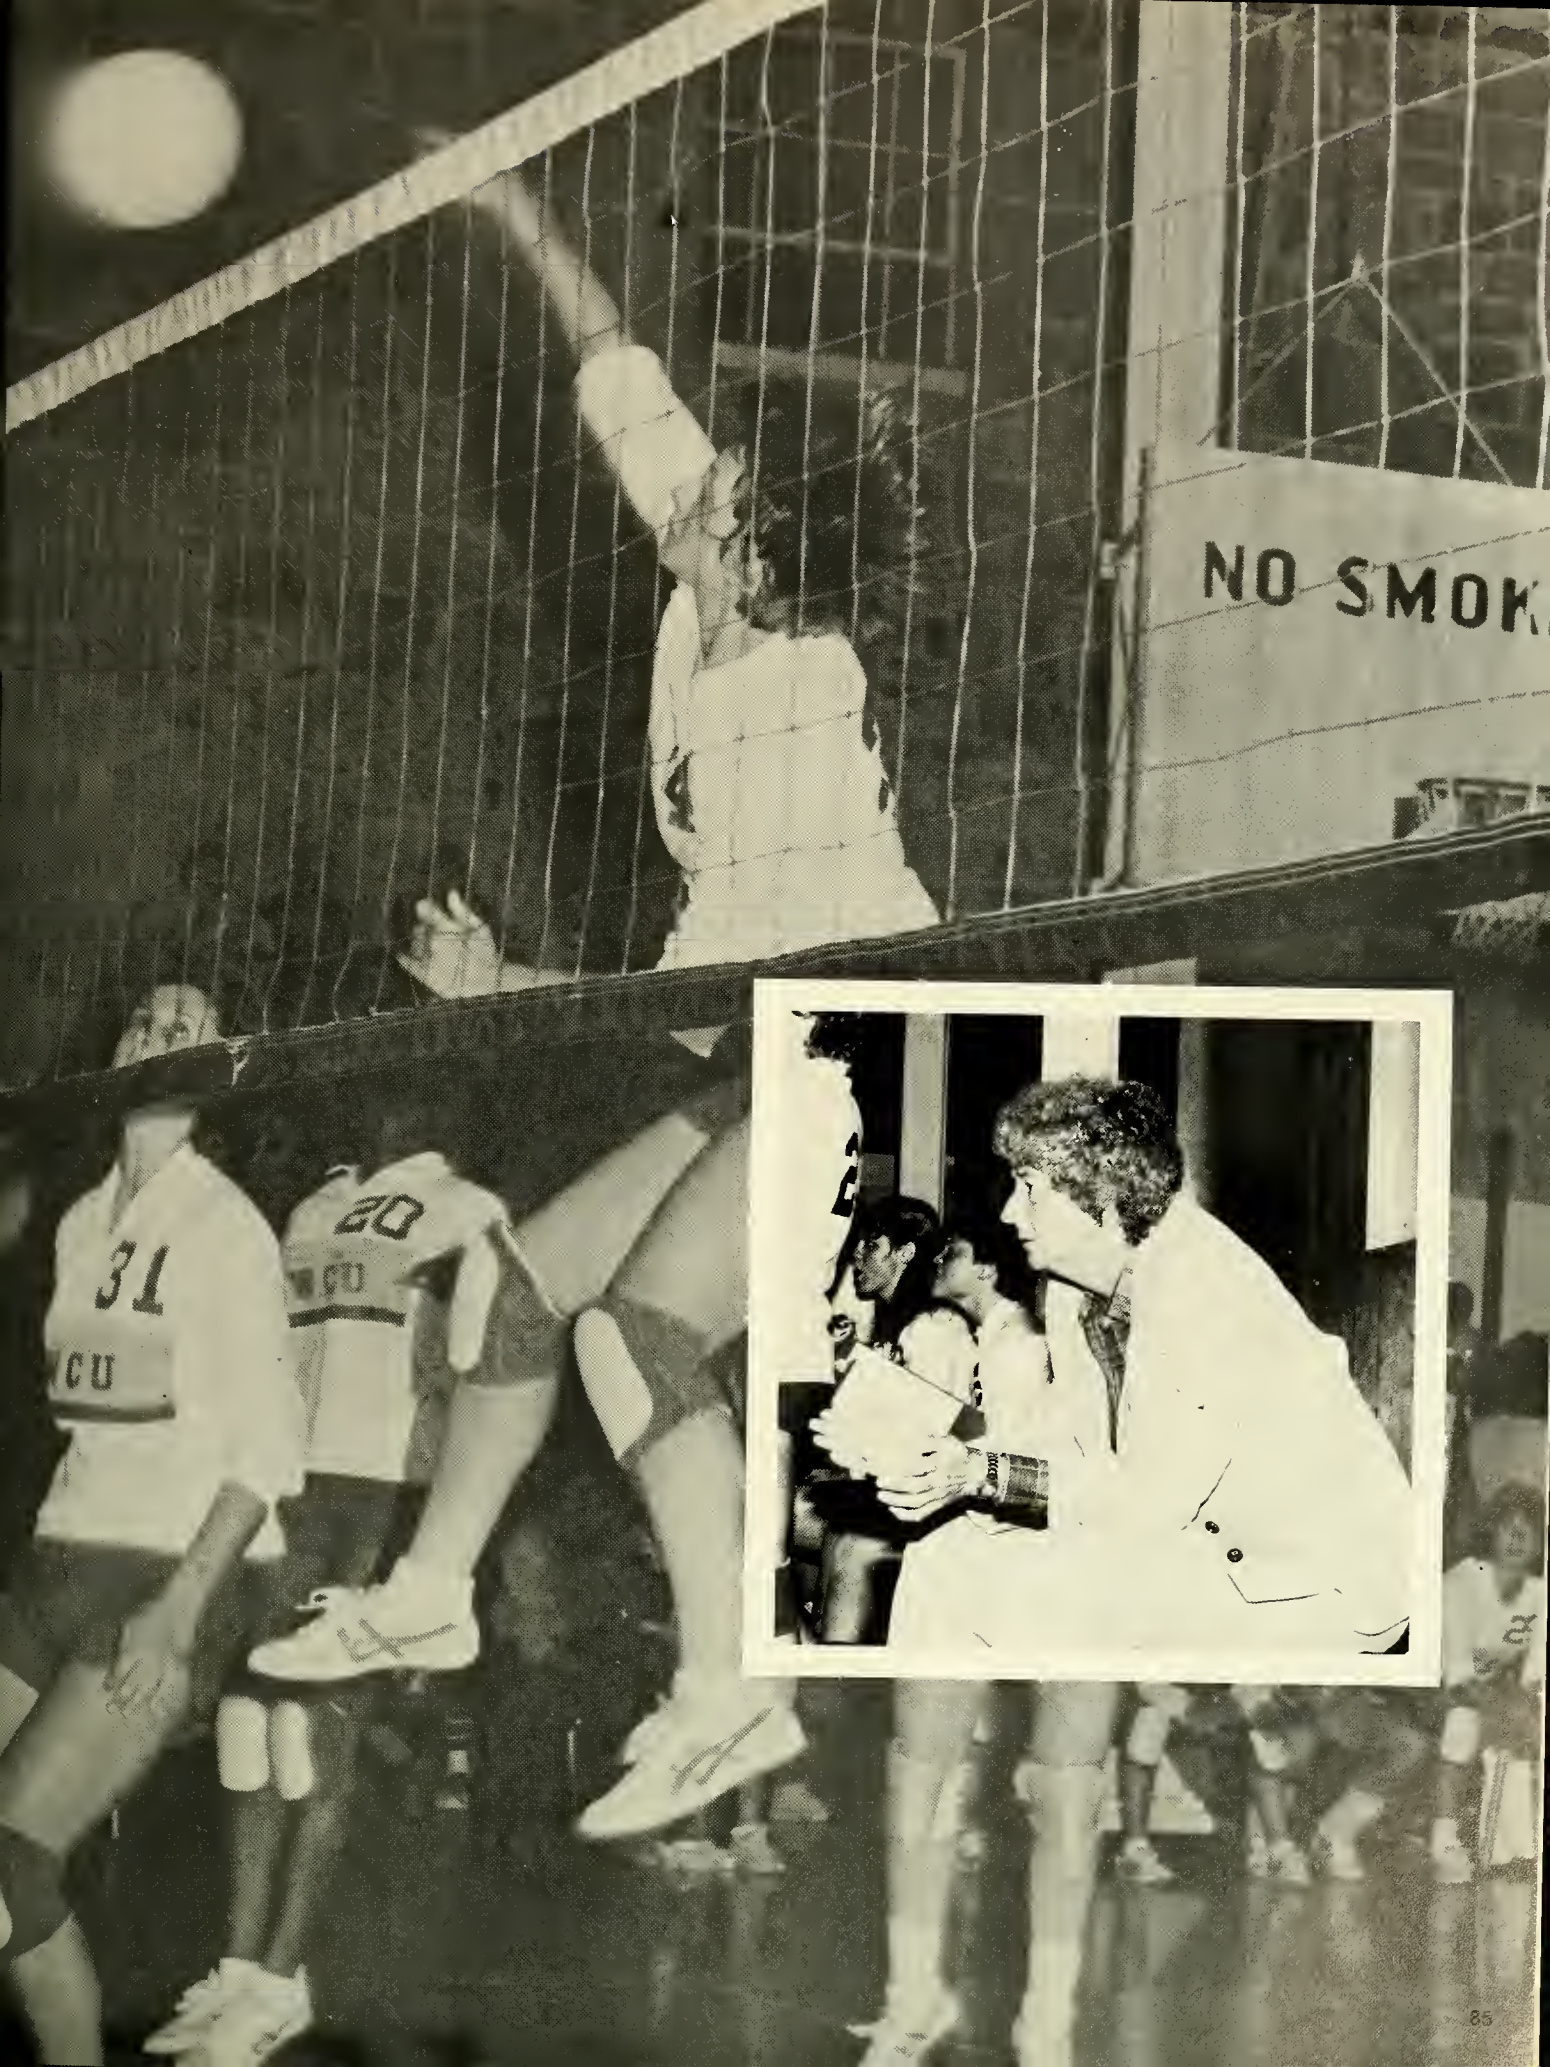

Volleyball

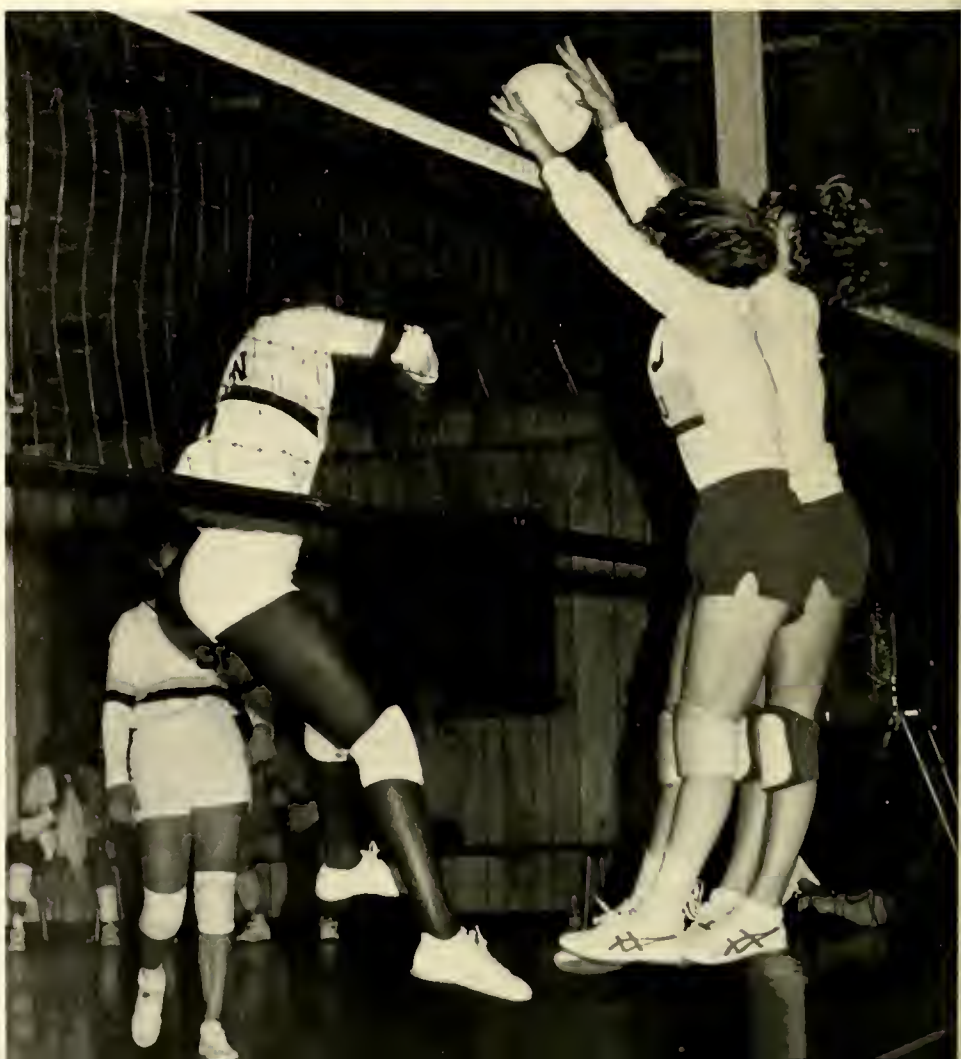

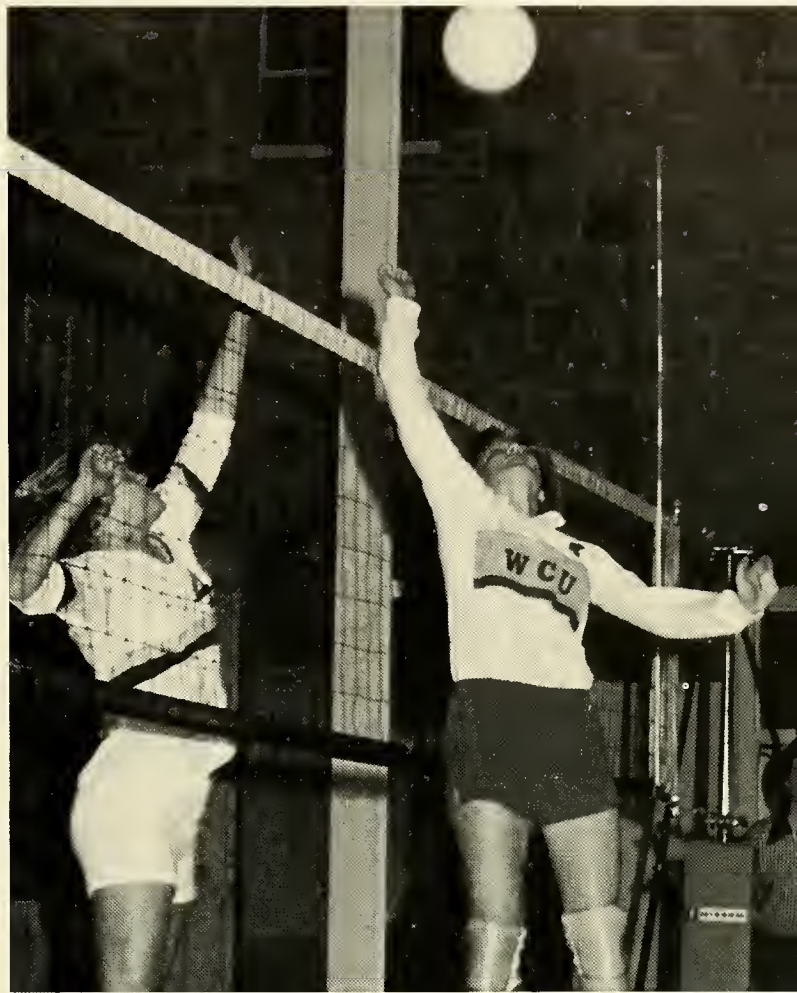

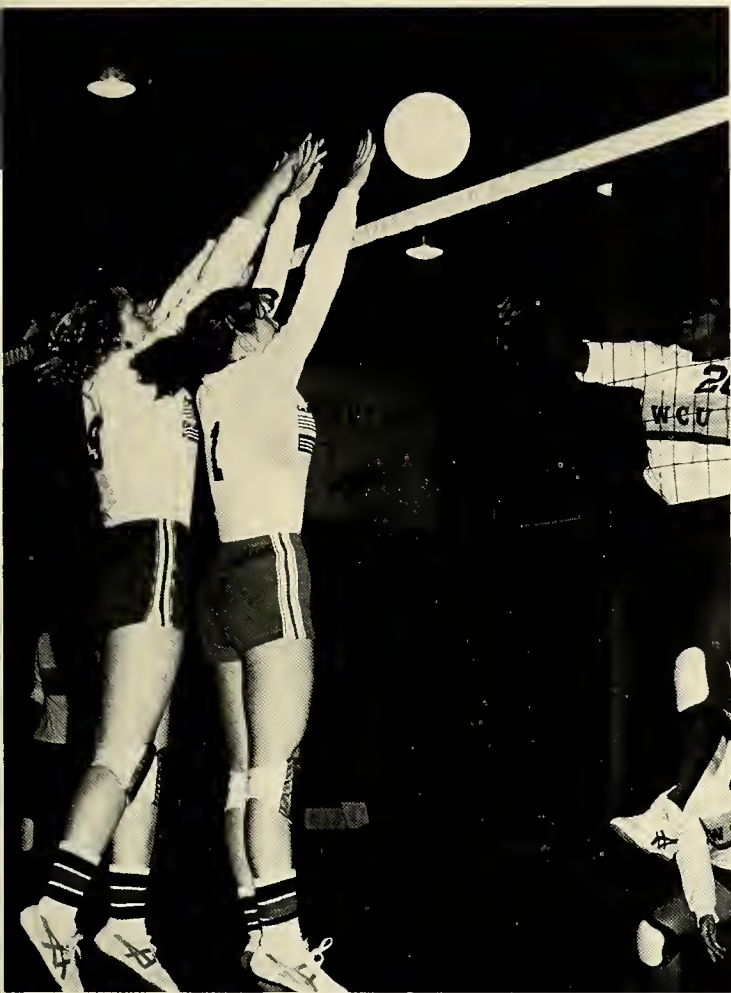

Coach Betty Peele's volleyball team compiled a school record 34-4 season. They were second in the state and advanced to the regional at Francis Marion at Florence, S.C. Saundra Flemming and Judy Green made the All-State team.

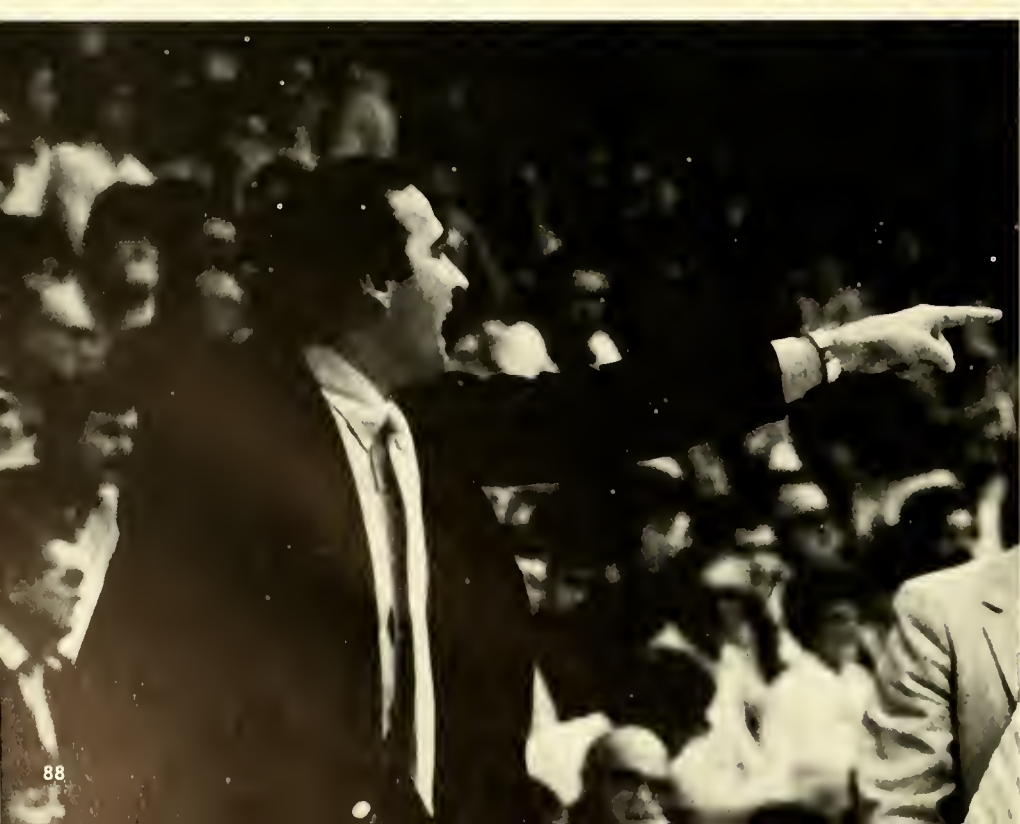

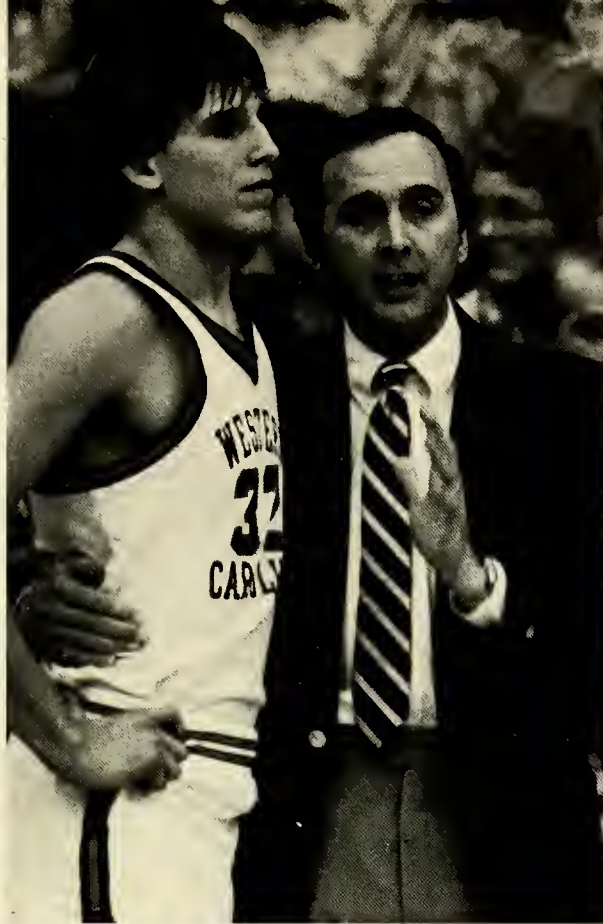

SPIKE

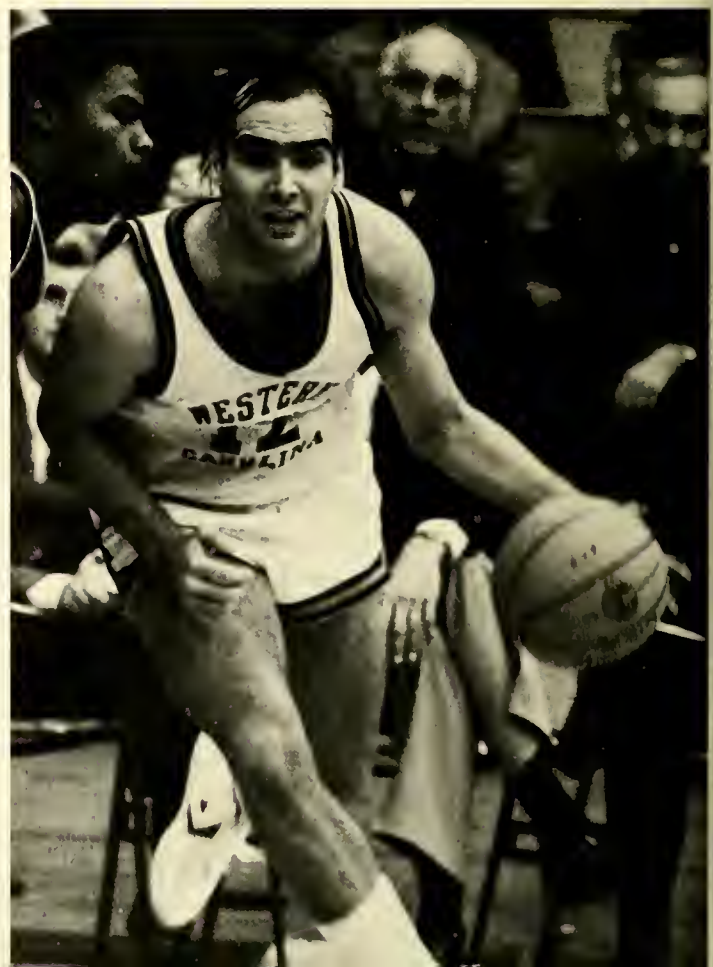

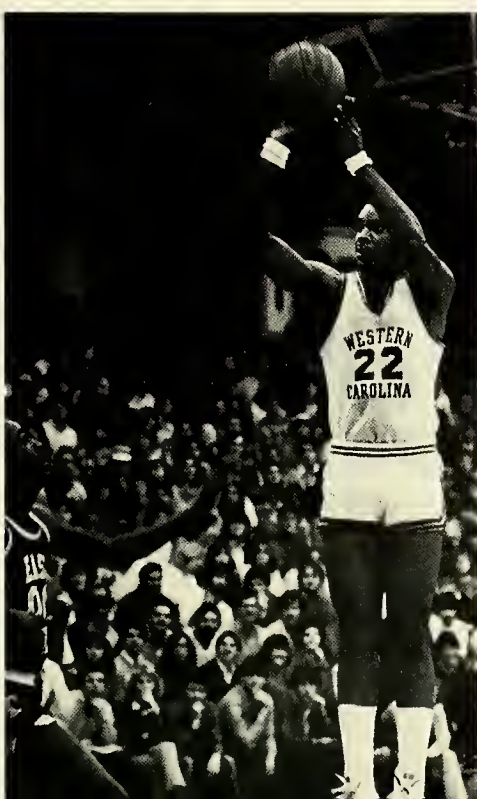

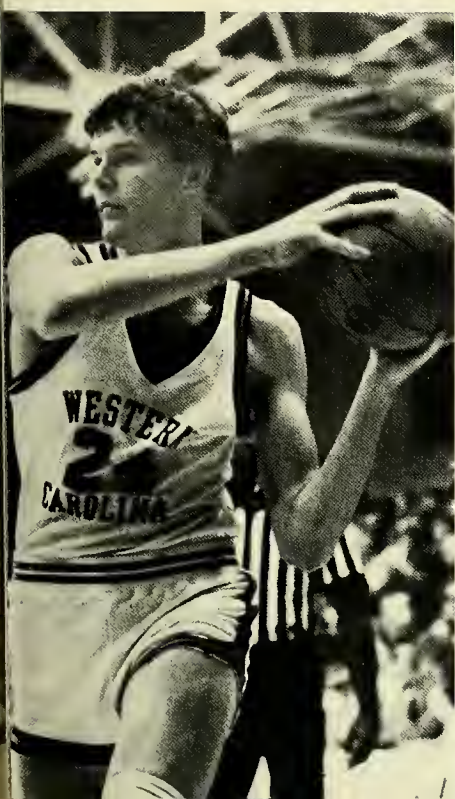

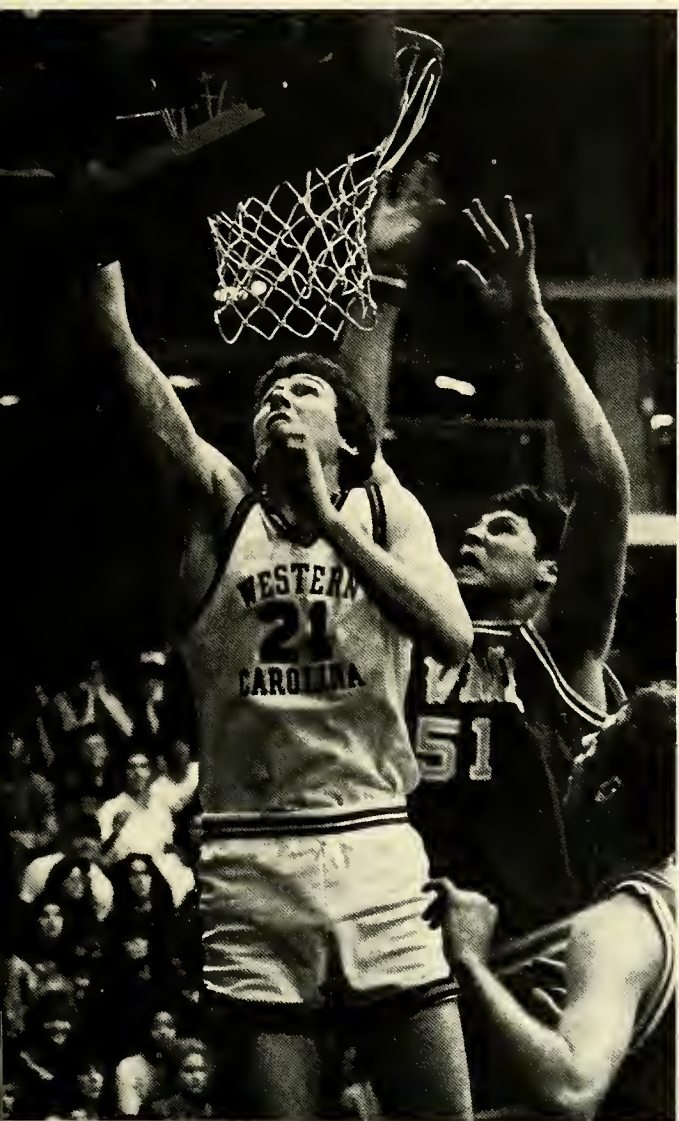

MEN'S BASKETBALL

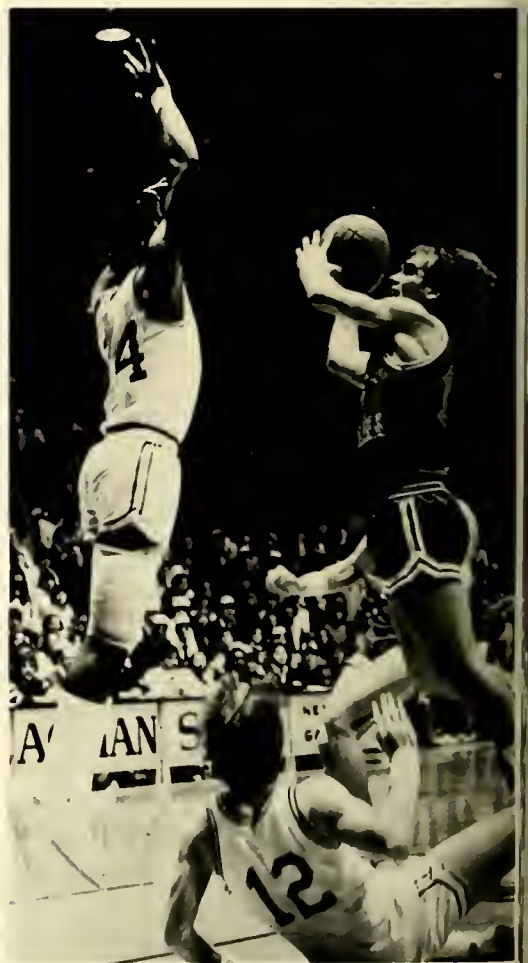

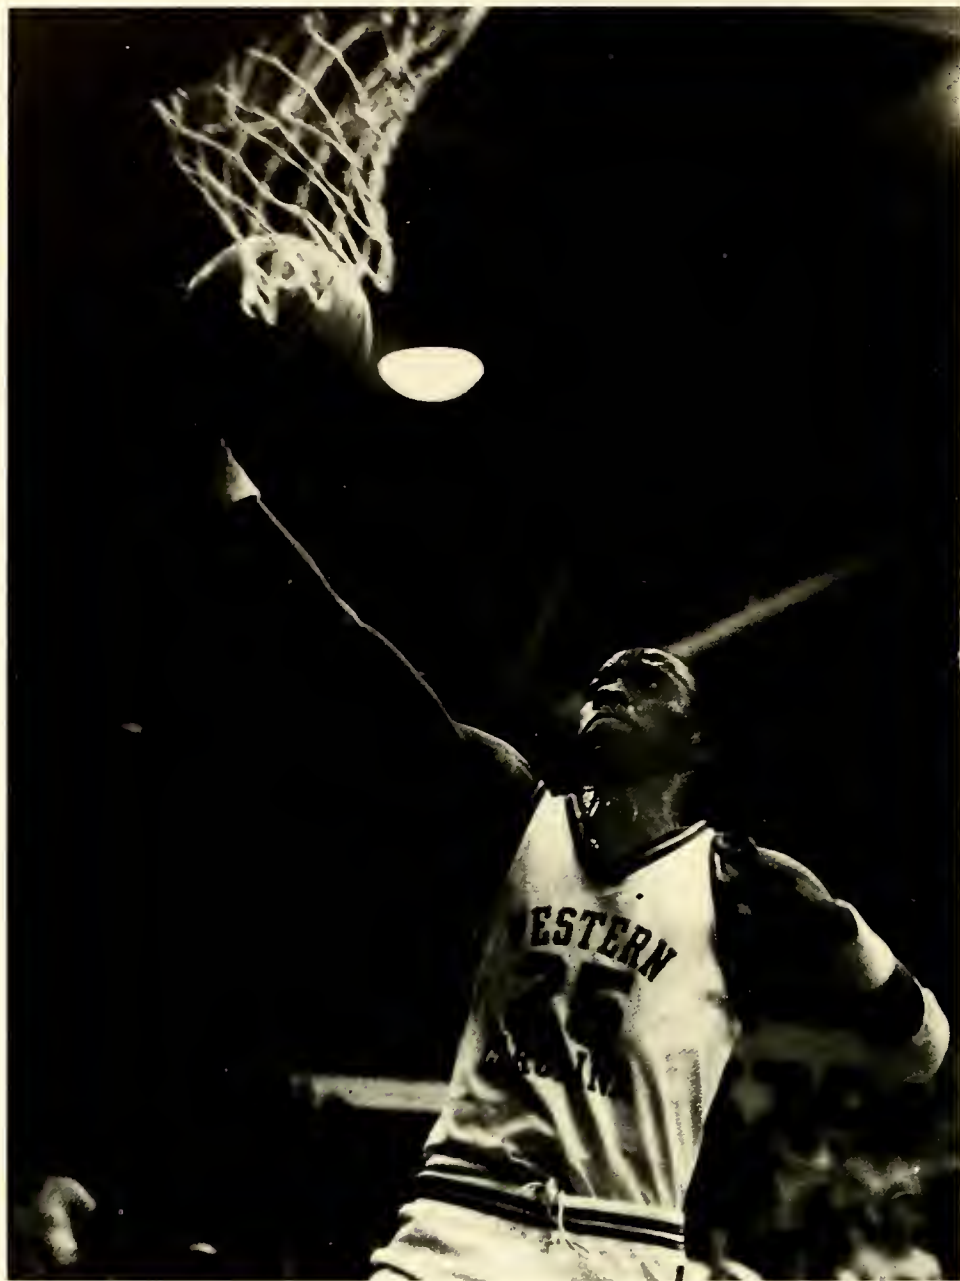

Record 19-8: the most wins for a WCU men's basketball team since 1972. They ended up 2nd place in the Southern Conference. What looked like a great season ended in the 1st round of the SC Tournament with a loss to the Citadel. The Cats gained national attention at Brigham Young's Cougar Classic where 23,000 people attended. They beat LaSalle but lost to BYU. They also beat ASU twice. Ronnie Carr and Greg Dennis were named to the All-Conference team. Cedric Cokely was named to the All Southern Conference Freshman team. The Cats were 3rd in the nation in free throw shooting and Dennis was 10th in the nation in free throw shooting. Carr led the conference in scoring with a 19 ppg average. Dennis was 3rd in scoring but led the conference in free throw shooting. He also received a NCAA Post Grad. Scholarship. Steve Cottrell boosted his record to 75 wins and 61 losses.

Baseball

(28-12)

The 1982 baseball team came very close to a second straight tie for the Southern Conference championship. The Catamounts, under interim coach David Wright, entered the last week of the season with a chance to tie the Citadel for the title, but were upset by eighth place UT-Chattanooga and finished second in the conference race with a 12-4 record. Thirteen records were either broken or tied, including season records for hits, runs, home runs and wins.

Western Carolina's Women in Athletics

It's just natural . . .

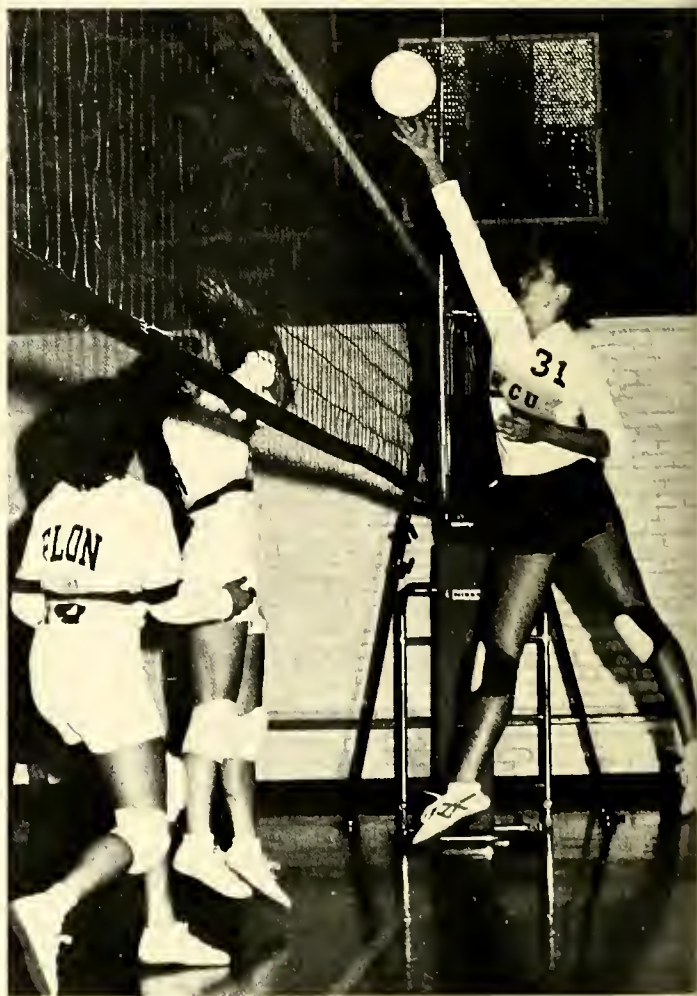

All across the nation, women are expanding their horizons in every way. It's just natural that the fairer sex is also becoming the active sex. Women are in athletics now, and they're here to stay.

Women are shattering the sexist myth that women are fragile, that they are neither inclined nor able to excel in sports. From an all-female polo team in California to girls in Little League softball, women are getting involved. They're moving, they're bending, they're running and stretching and they're proving what they've always known: that women can compete, and do well, in all kinds of athletic competition. This "revolutionary" concept is reflected in increased media coverage of women's sports, and in the increased attention paid to women's collegiate sports.

The women of WCU are joining their sisters across the nation in the athletic activity. In basketball, volleyball, softball, gymnastics, tennis, and swimming, Western's women are developing a following that is approaching their male counterparts'.

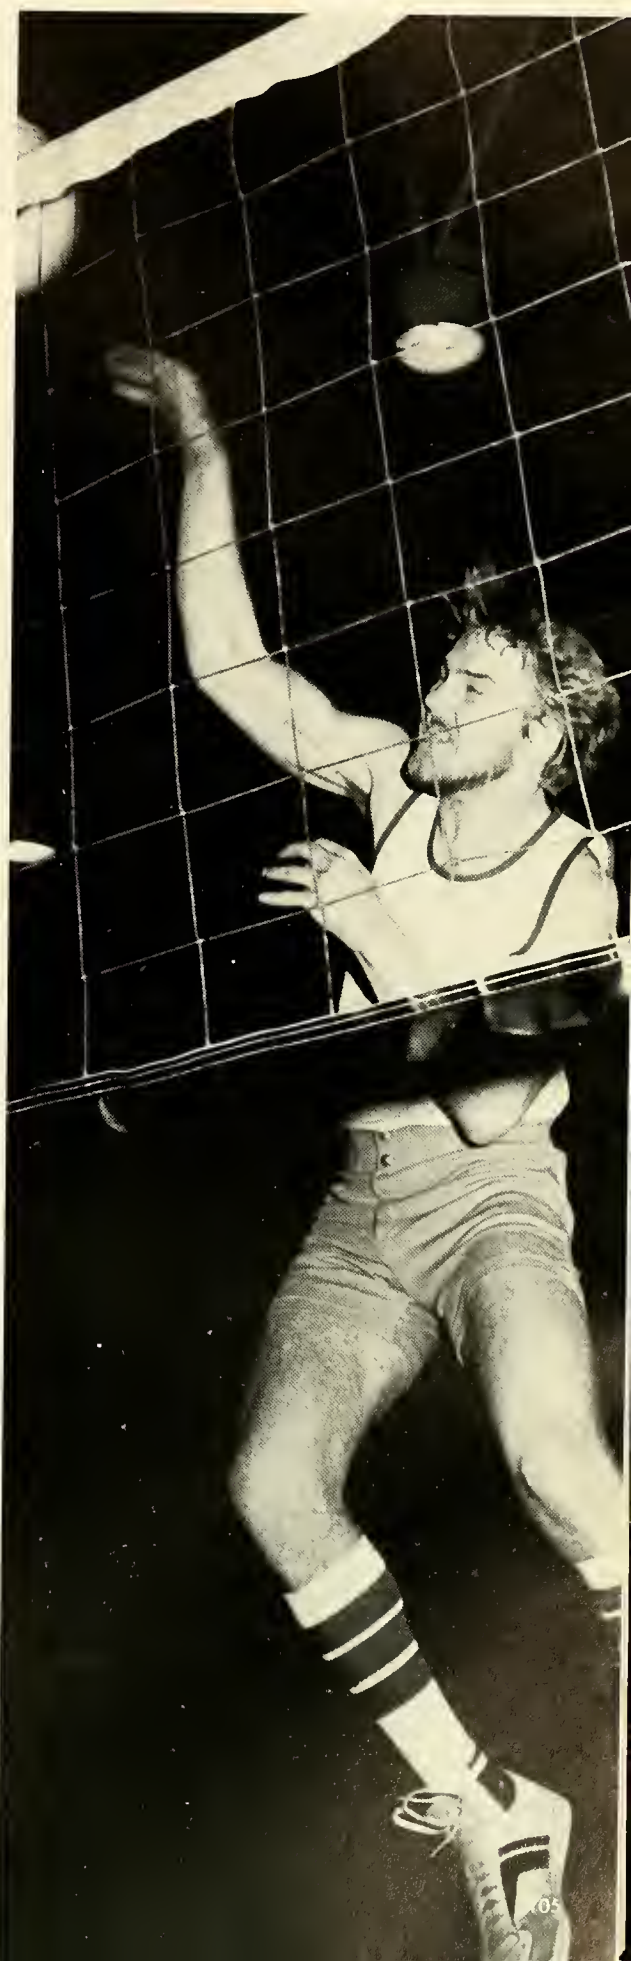

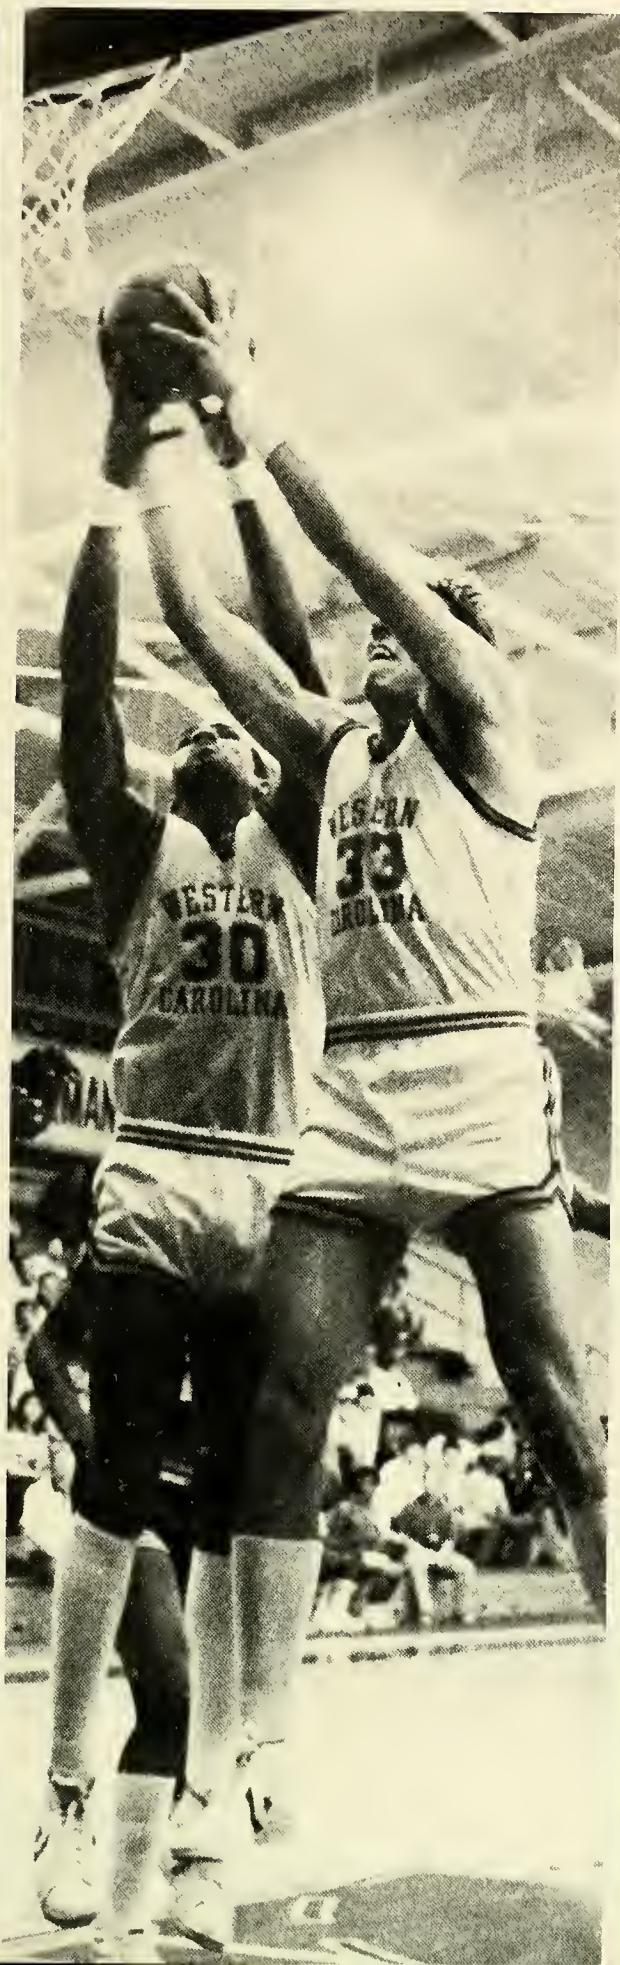

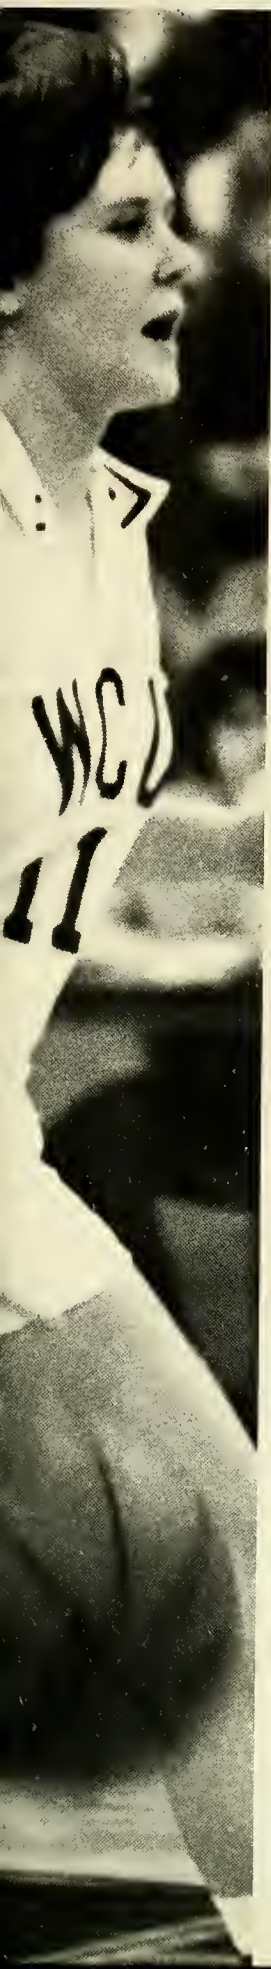

Although the money spent on women's athletics does not yet approach the money spent on men's teams, this is a goal that many talented women are working hard for. Lately, it seems that women can do anything that they will try; it would not be surprising to see budgets for men's and women's competitive sports approaching equality in the not-too-distant future.

The 1982 Catamount would like to take this opportunity to salute WCU's women in sports. Here's to you, ladies!

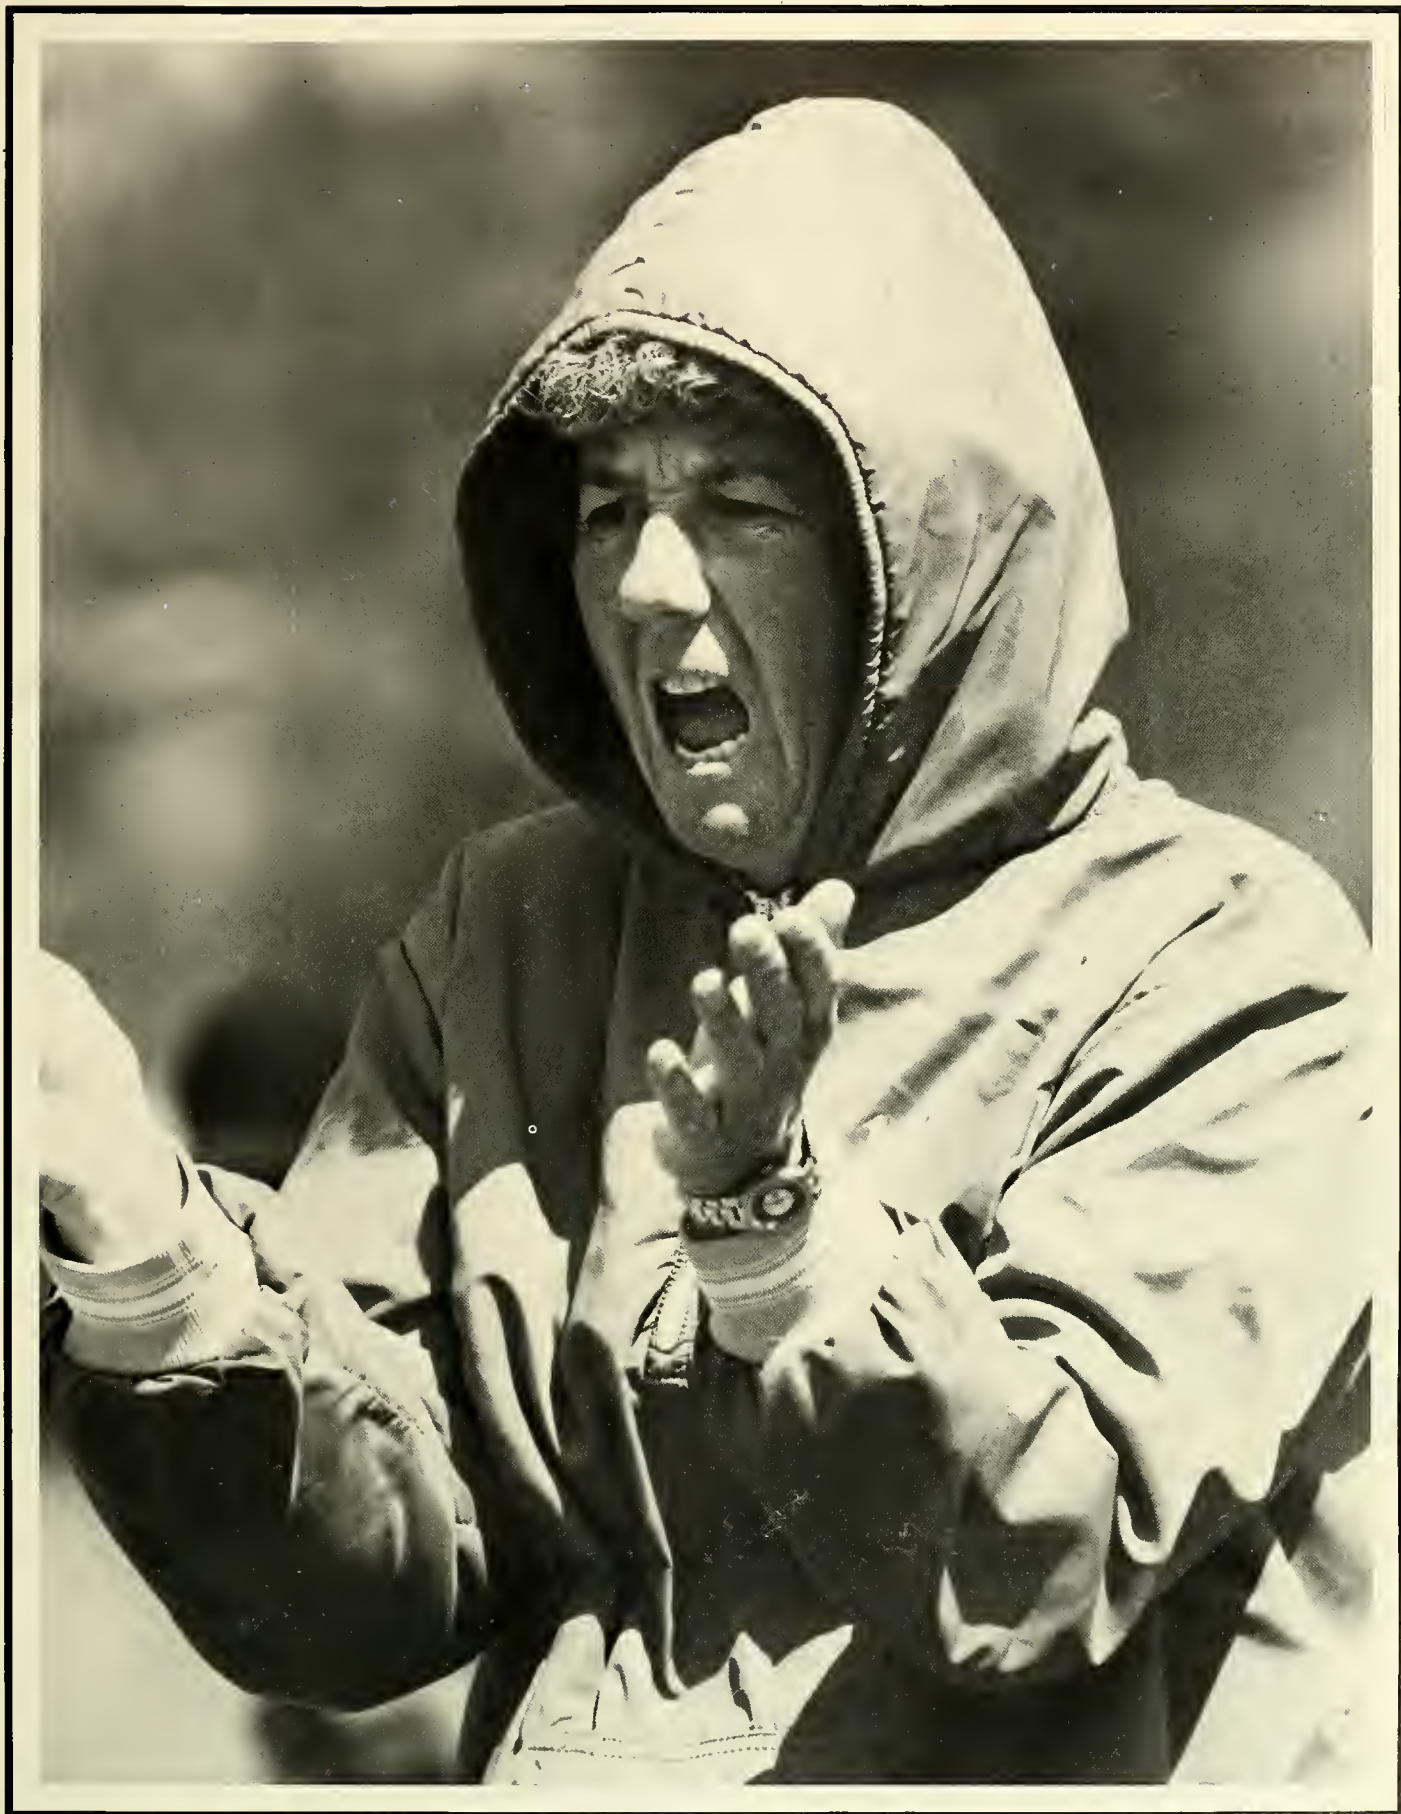

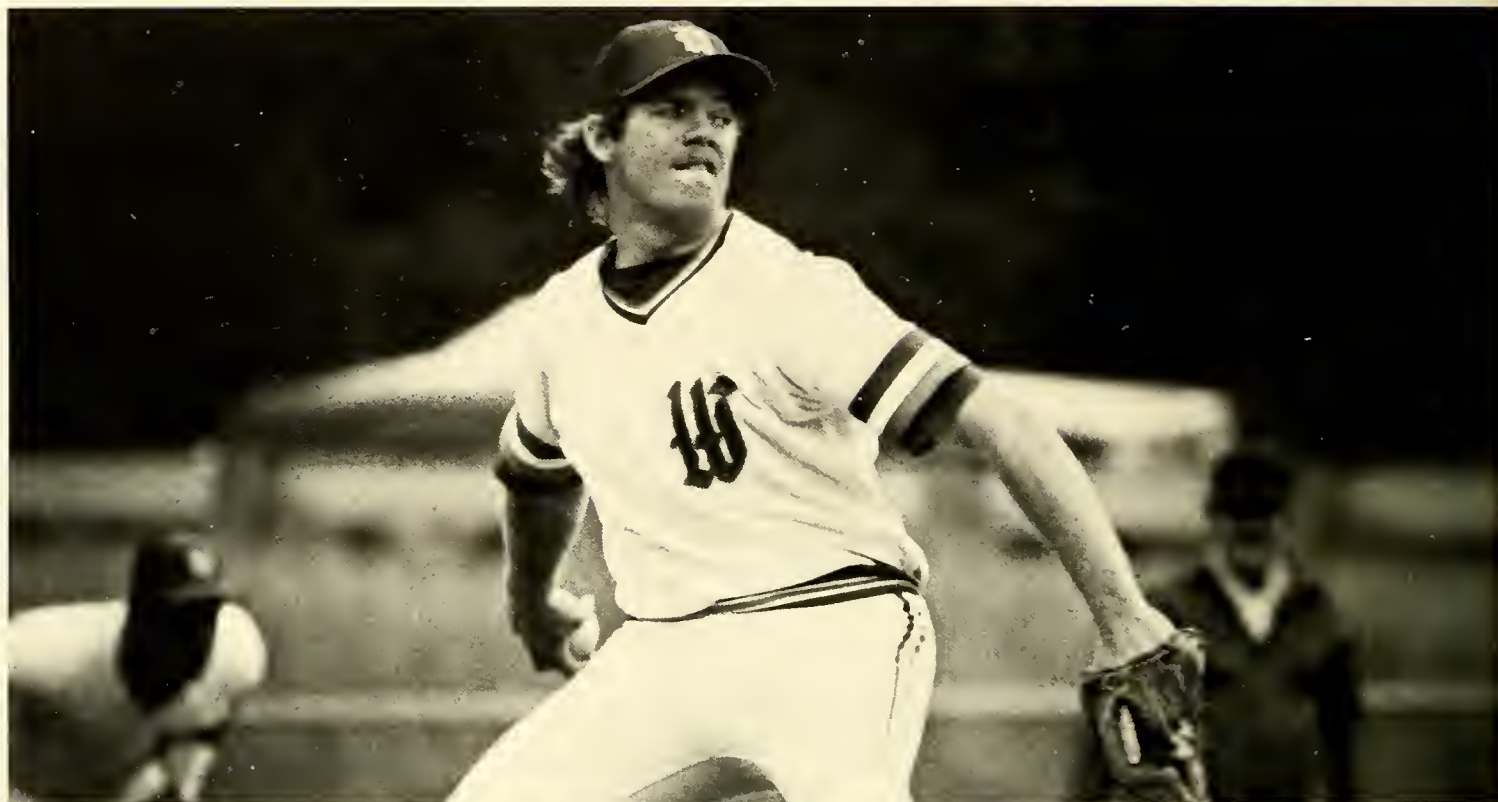

Lady Cat Softball

(32-15) The women's softball team turned in the best season of all of WCU's 17 teams with a state championship and a fifth place finish in the national championship tournament. The success of the Lady Cats was somewhat of a surprise as the roster was loaded with freshmen and sophomores. After a slow start in a tournament in Florida, the Lady Cats won 17 of their next 19 games to gain national ranking. Coach Betty Peele has guided Western to a 119-68 record in five seasons of intercollegiate competition.

Coach Betty Peele

It's just natural that WCU is proud of the Catamounts whether it be in football in which Western downed its number 1 rival Appalachian State, basketball in which Western beat ASU twice. Western has always produced outstanding conference players in basketball and baseball; in fact, the Catamounts beat University of Georgia, and several other first-rate teams. Women sports are also a great source of pride with a championship-winning volleyball team and individual sports such as track and field in which Sarah Lowell set the World's record for the 24-hour run.

CATPRIDE

Nobody comes to Western because of the tennis team. Last year's dismal 3-14 record caused many to wonder if it was worth it for WCU to even have a men's tennis team, and the Lady Cats weren't any better. This year, though, things are looking up. Although neither team had a winning season, (men's 11-12, women's 4-6-0) the teams showed so much improvement over last year, and throughout the season itself, that it appears there may be something to look forward to for the 1983 Catamount Tennis Teams. Congratulations to coaches Charley Bowen and Alma Hooks on the marked improvement in their teams' records. Net 'em, Cats!

WCU Tennis

WCU Track

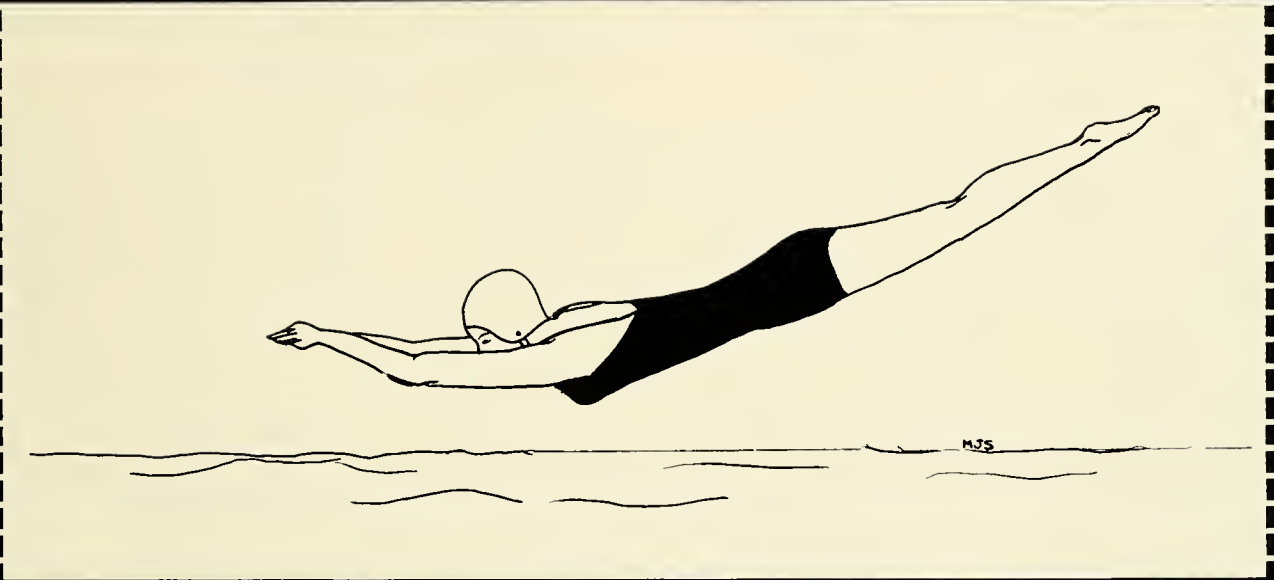

(3-3 in dual meets)

Coach Don Millwood's rebuilding campaign began to show results late in the season as WCU's track and field program came alive with several impressive individual performances. The Catamounts finished seventh in the conference championship meet but were only eight points out of fourth place. A new school record was established in the mile relay at the conference meet. The program holds a lot of promise for the vast majority of the performers from the past season were underclassmen.

WCU Swim Team

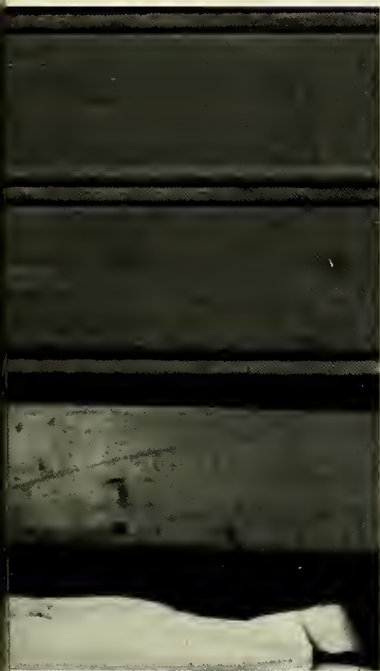

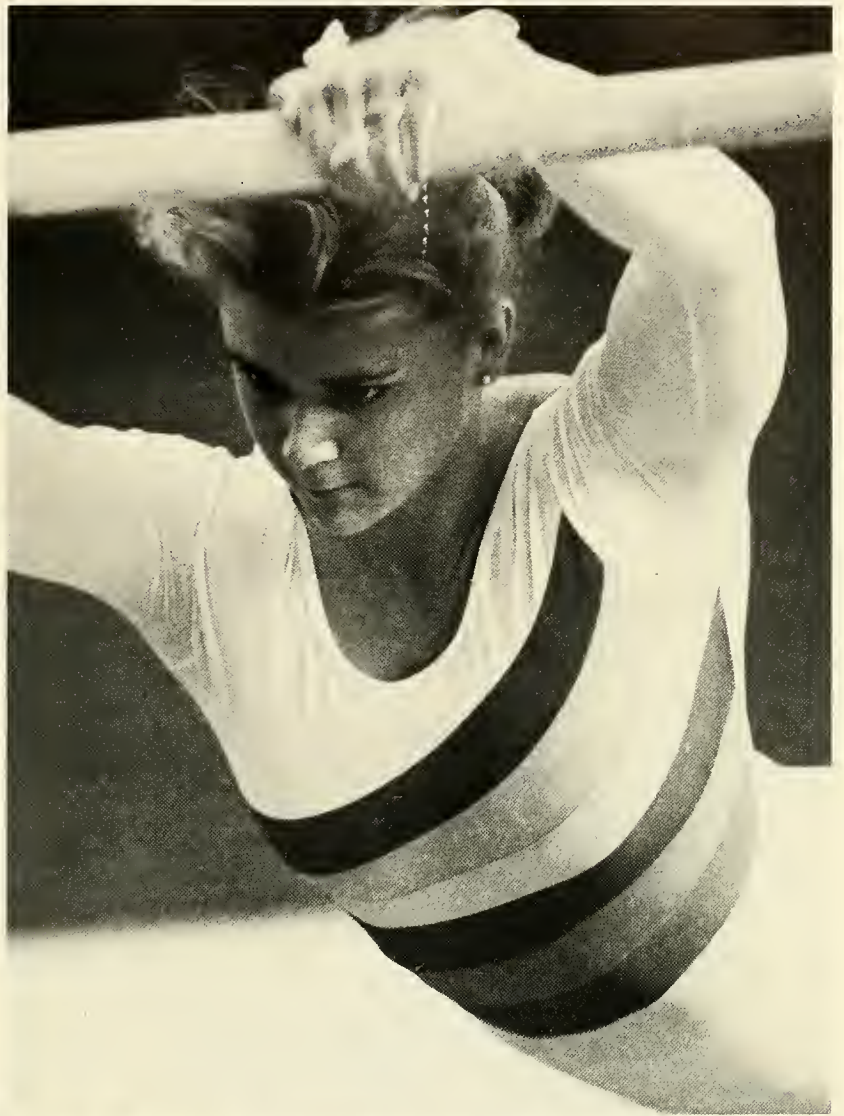

Gymnastics

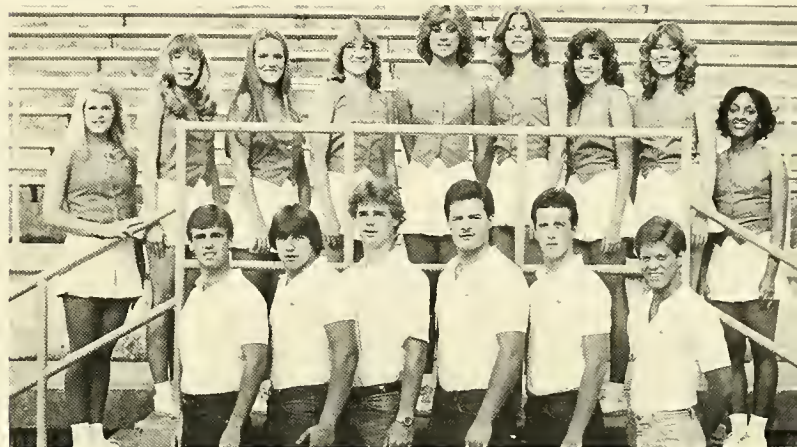

The gymnastics team had an impressive schedule which included Auburn, UNC, NC State, and Virginia Tech. Reenie McDonald placed 9th in the Regional meet and coach Sue Fields said that despite injuries, it was a good season overall.

CHEERLEADERS

CROSS COUNTRY

The Cross Country team finished 8th in the NC State meet in Raleigh out of 17 teams. They were also 7th in the Southern Conference under head coach Dan Kenney.

A Year in Men’s Sports

WCU is naturally a great place for sports, men’s and women’s, and here the Catamount is paying tribute to the sportive men at Western, because this has been quite a year in sports.

Intramurals

The Health and Physical Education Department offers a comprehensive intramural sports program in numerous team and individual activities. It's just natural that WCU would have one of the best intramural programs around. With entirely voluntary participation, the program meets the needs and interests of the whole student body. Such qualities as group spirit, enthusiasm, loyalty and leadership are all products of intramurals. Fraternity, sorority and independent students participate in team softball, football, volleyball and individual sports such as badminton, fishing and tennis, to only name a few.

Relax . . . and Enjoy . . .

Natural”

Coke — It's the Real Thing!

Friendship

It's just natural that in a community that offers no bars and little "citified" nightlife, friendships become very important. Most students will never get a chance to be so close to so many people with similar ages or similar goals. College is a time to develop many close friendships that could possibly last a lifetime. As these pictures show, there's certainly no shortage of close friendships at Western. In fact, each day is a new chance to see an old friend or make a new one. Whether it's cheering at a ball game with drinking buddies or sharing an umbrella with a special person, these people and many others share bonds that are as valuable and unbreakable as diamonds.

ORGANIZATIONS

It's just natural that WCU is jam-packed with student organizations for all types of students. Ranging from the student newspaper, the Western Carolinian, to the Outing Club, student organizations provide both professional supplement and enjoyable diversion. Students can become involved in organizations at all levels, as leader or follower, and their involvement in extra-curricular activities is often one of their most vivid memories of college life. Organizations not only provide additional education, but provide friendships as well. No student should overlook membership in at least one campus organization.

Responsible student government is a necessity, especially in our small university setting. Our student government must continue to provide a viable representation of student interests, or it will outlive its usefulness. We are hopefully confident that future Student Government Associations will meet the challenges presented to them.

Viewpoint

by Jim Buchanan

Although we have had our rocky spots with the university community this year, it has been for the most part a thoroughly enjoyable experience. More people are taking an interest in the school and its various programs, and more students are becoming interested in the goings-on that govern their lives.

This university, and this country, are in a state of change. The people who have been elected or appointed to office have arrived when the time is ripe. Lower student enrollment will mean less money to go around for clubs and organizations, but it will also mean that the students will have more of a say in what is done with their money (and their curriculum, for that matter) than ever before, if they take the opportunity.

The time is ripe for increased student involvement. People seem to be coming out of the shell that was erected because of the Viet Nam war and Watergate. If you don't stand up for your rights, you lose them. Simple as that. So, to Blake Brown and Larry Hardin (President-elect, SGA and Editor-elect, Western Carolinian, 1983, respectively), get out there and live up to the expectations of those who put you in office. I know you both will.

And to the rest of Cullowhee, this is not a final good-bye, but a "see you later." I will be back next year, and I will occasionally haunt the Carolinian's editorial page. Have a good summer, and a good year.

Michael Naylor (President, O.E.S.)

Founded in 1968 as the Black Students United for Liberation, this organization changed its name in 1973 to the Organization of Ebony Students. The primary purpose of O.E.S. is to initiate a feeling of togetherness and understanding between students interested in black awareness at Western Carolina University. Interest in the history of black people in America prompted O.E.S. to sponsor a now-annual Black Awareness Week at Western. The event is concluded with the crowning of the year's Organization of Ebony Students Queen. O.E.S. also publishes a yearly magazine entitled Neo Blockness.

The radio-television division of the STA Department was very successful in 1981-82. With the addition of two audio labs, our students were able to record university-affiliated public announcements. The video section has been taping varsity football and basketball games, plus intramural events. Our students can be seen and heard almost anywhere, thanks to our radio-TV majors.

"LMP is a student organization whose purpose is to coordinate entertainment, recreation, and social activities while promoting personal growth and social interaction for the university community."

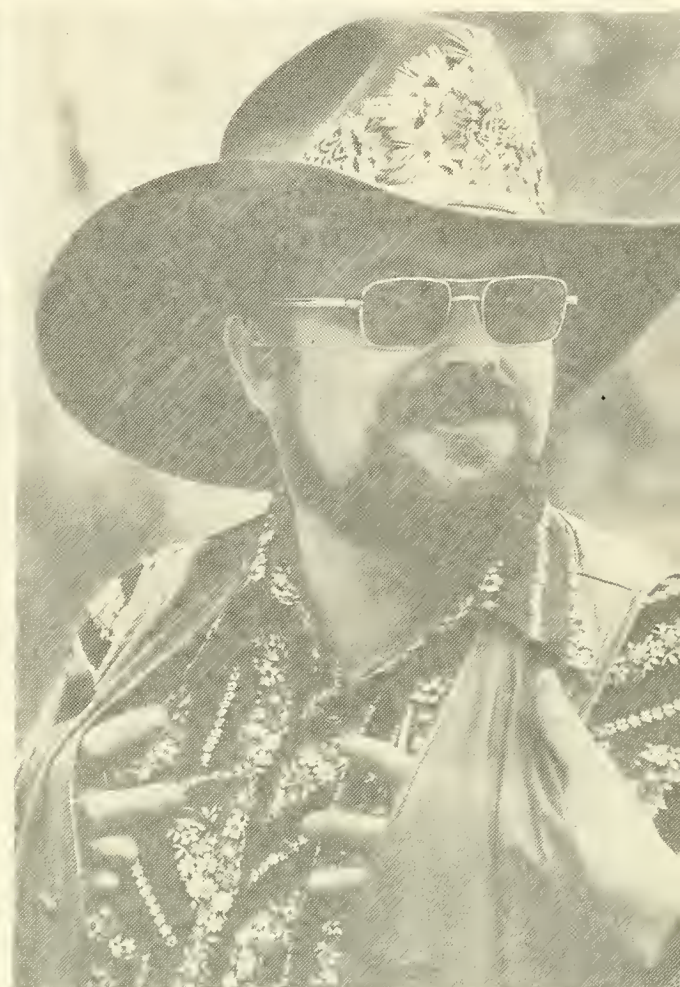

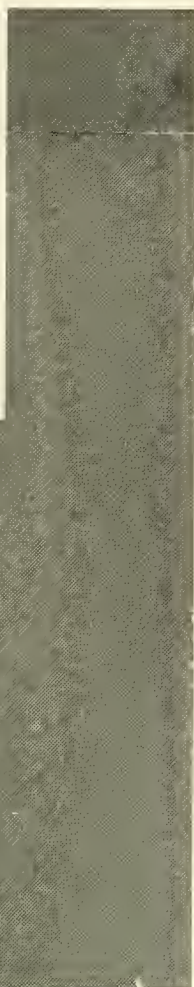

"I feel that LMP has fulfilled this purpose, even though there has been a turnover of committee members. It's hard to be in charge of a committee that encompasses such a broad spectrum of activities . . ."

"The most significant accomplishments have been the repayment of a $4000.00 deficit left by SGP and the fact that the budget will come out in the black. We also have a very stable, tight-knit committee for the coming year; good workers whom I feel will be dedicated to getting their jobs done to the best of their abilities . . ."

"In closing, I would like to say that there were times when LMP really got me down . . . times when I wished it would all go away . . . times when some of the individuals really made me mad, but these times were few and short-lived, and were far outweighed by the pleasure, excitement, and knowledge I have received. It really has been quite an experience."

— Smokey Mountain Classic —

Summer Semester saw the return of the Smokey Mountain Classic, the second annual Drum and Bugle Corps competition here at Western Carolina University. In the event, people from all over the country compete in their area's Drum and Bugle Corps for the title of "Smokey Mountain Champion." The players range in age from 14 to 22, they rehearse together all year, and then spend part of their summer on the road in competitions such as this one. Six different corps entertained a crowd of hundreds at the E.J. Whitmire Stadium, and the audience rose to its feet several times to applaud the resounding music and the thrilling marches. Congratulations to Western's Dr. Joseph Scagnoli, who was again chairman of the event, and especially to the many talented youngsters who participated.

GREEKS

Greeks — fraternities and sororities — comprise a large percentage of Western's population. While not everyone agrees with the Greek philosophy, Greeks nevertheless produce a lot of school spirit and a lot of campus entertainment.

With the service to the public, the contribution to entertainment, and the sponsoring of special events, even a GDI has to give the Greeks some well deserved credit.

The rivalry between Western and Ap State is a long-established fact. Prior to this year, the competition was considered to be all in fun. But . . . early in the spring semester, the Boon Goons published a derogatory editorial about noble students in their student newspaper. Western's retaliation was swift and devastating. On February 31st, 1982, an Ap coed was spotted on campus, and was immediately recognized, due to her horns. A loyal, but perhaps over-enthusiastic Cullowhee noble flogged the unfortunate female Goon to death . . .

... Onlookers cheered, while masked Greeks appeared to do away with the remains. The masked assailant remains unidentified, and WCU Traffic and Security officers remain fabled as to his whereabouts. "It's too bad," said T&S head Frank Blackmon, "But those Boon Goons are just going to have to learn that it isn't safe for them to be seen walking around on our campus, except in pairs."

The Good Ole' "UC"

Naturally, students at a univesrity shall flock together. Each university has its own meetin' place, and at WCU, the A.K. Hinds University Center, known commonly as the "UC," is the center for student activity, socializing, Pac-Manning, or just lazin' around. The UC is a place students can merely wander into, and find someone to watch TV with, eat lunch with, or spend a lazy afternoon with, (just ask Jimmy Buchanan.)

The A.K. Hinds University Center, more commonly known as the UC, is a campus home for many commuters and a second home for several dorm residents. Throughout the years, the UC has provided a game room, conference rooms, snack bar, restaurant, and dance hall or "grand room" for nearly every organization or person on campus. Few people can make it through a semester at WCU without spending some time in the UC, drinking coffee, talking to student government association, or attending a speech or conference. At far left, the Health Fair uses the facilities to provide health care to local residents.

Here's a tribute to the gallons of coffee, many unusual conversations and gallons of frustration over registration that have been consumed, spoken and felt within the walls of A.K. Hinds. We salute you, UC.

FLESH

It's just natural that wherever you go you'll find college students 'baring their bods' and Western is no exception. As temperatures go up, clothes go off and females and males alike catch rays and show off tans. Here are just a few fleshy examples of 'natural' legs and more...

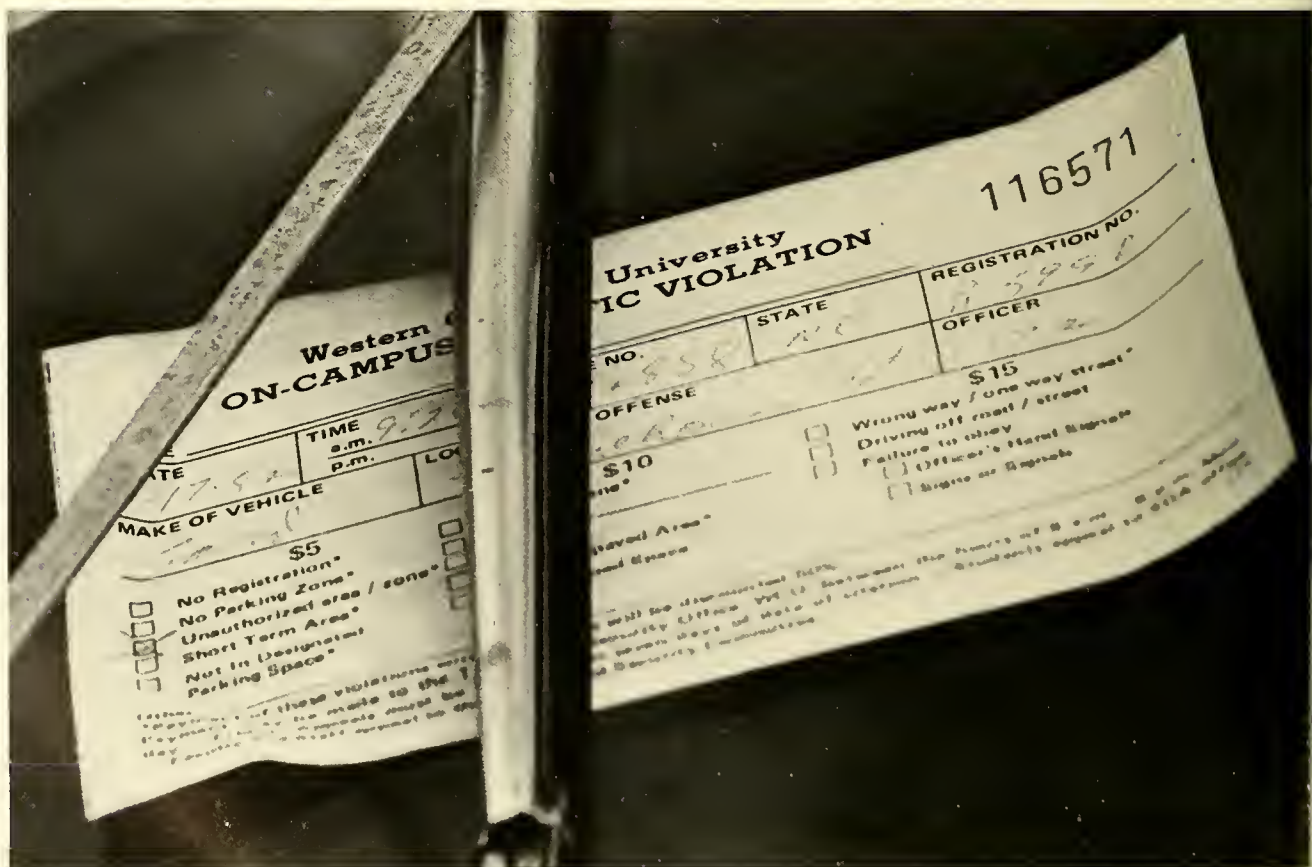

STARS & SONGS OF 1982

"Too Much Time on My Hands" — Styx

"Take It on the Run" — REO Speedwagon

"Dreampolice" — Police or "Theme from Hawaii 5-0"

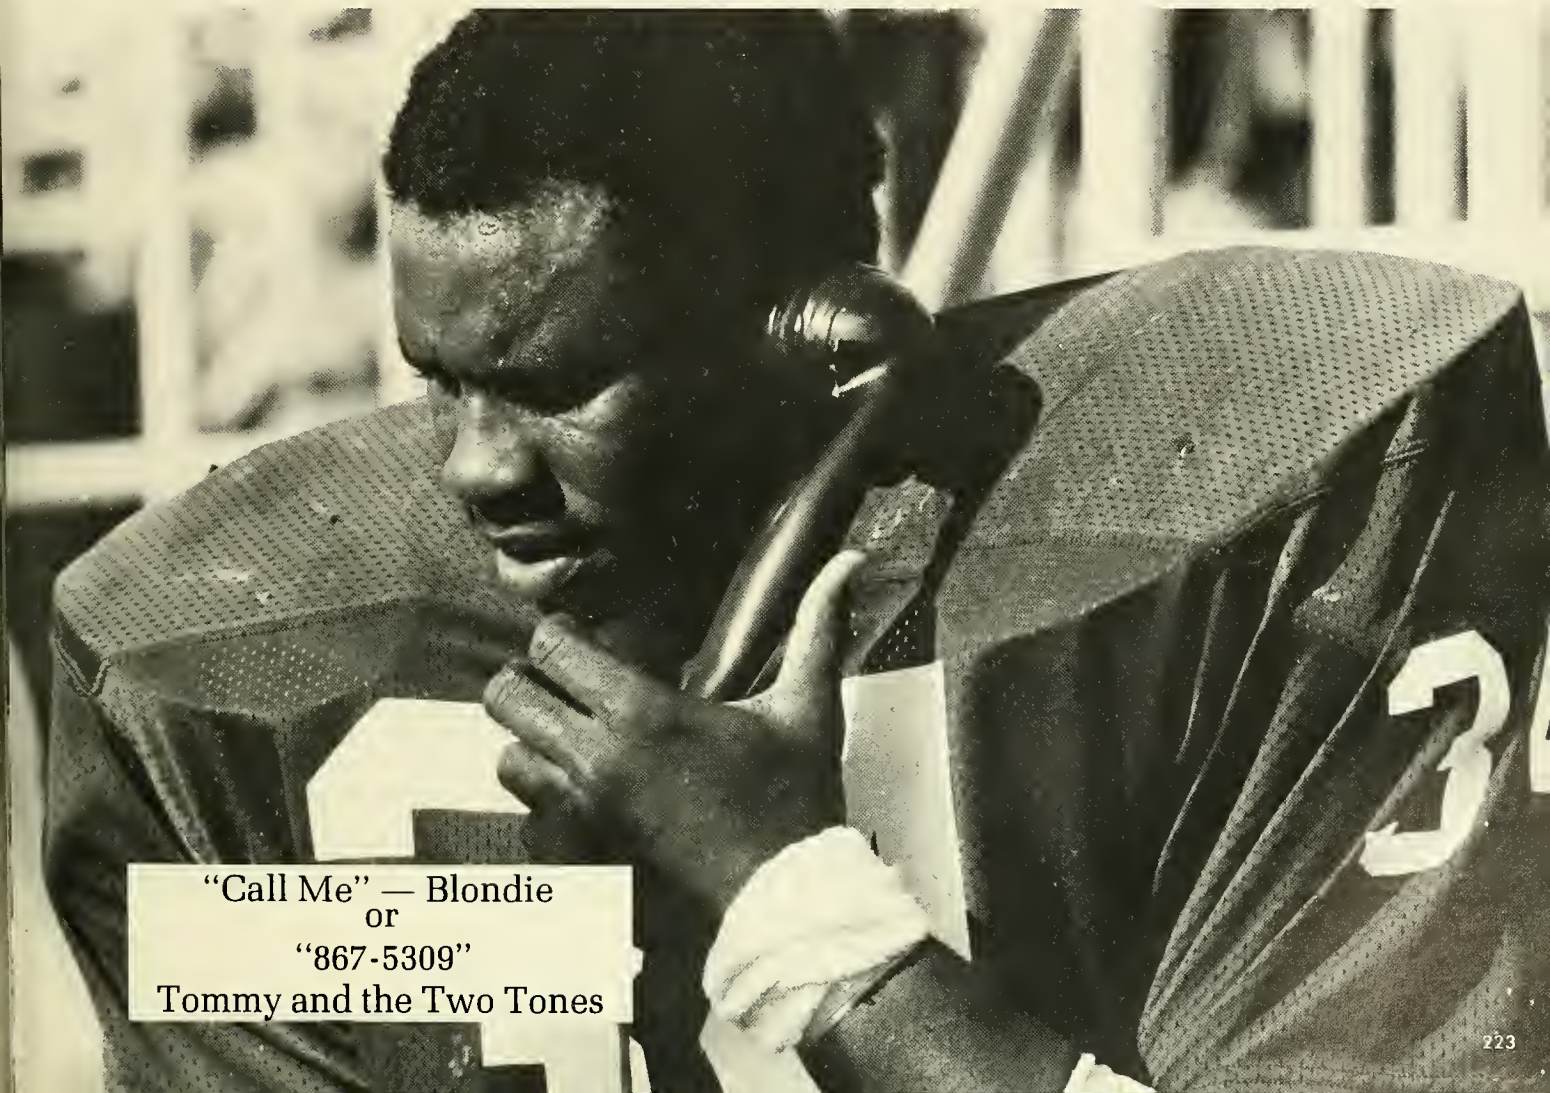

"Time for Me to Fly" — REO Speedwagon

It's just natural that each year has its special songs and each year has its special people. While we could never name all of Western's special people, and while our list of songs does not necessarily represent the 1982 Top 40 charts, we nevertheless thought you'd like to see some of the stars and some of the songs of 1982.

"867-5309"
Tommy and the Two Tones

STARS & SONGS

"I Don't Know Where to Start" — Eddie Rabbitt

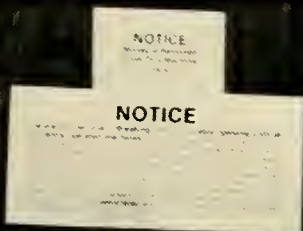

"Always on My Mind" — Willie Nelson

"For Your Eyes Only" — Sheena Easton

"Who's Fooling Who" —

"When It's Over" — Lover Boy

"It's Just Natural"

Where are these guys going? Who knows? But at Western Carolina they have plenty of places to choose from. The Great Smokey Mountains National Park, the Blue Ridge Parkway, Joyce Kilmer Forest, Whiteside Cliffs, Whitewater Falls, Lake Glennville, Bear Lake, Bust Ass Rock, Bridal Veil Falls are only a few of the natural attractions within a short distance of campus. At WCU, one can load up the car and head off in any direction to a good place to sit and think and get away from it all.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

Chancellor H. F. Robinson "Cotton"

Chancellor Harold F. Robinson, more commonly known as Cotton is a native of Bandana, N.C., a small village about forty miles northeast of Asheville. As a young boy he picked up his well-known nickname "Cotton" because of his very blond hair. The name has stuck ever since.

Under Chancellor Robinson's administration, WCU has continued to grow and change with the construction of several new buildings and the planned construction of a new multi-million dollar sports center. Since his appointment as chancellor in 1974, Chancellor Robinson has witnessed the construction of a new administration building, the music-English building, the natural science building, and the renovation of Hunter Library.

Chancellor Robinson enjoys hunting and fishing in the area around Cullowhee. He often takes his three beagles Doc, Ronnie Milsap II and Charlie Pride IV hunting with him.

The chancellor first attended Mars Hill College which he allegedly paid for with forty bushels of potatoes. Later at North Carolina State he received his B.S. degree in Plant Breeding in 1939 and his master's degree in 1940. Following a four-year stint in the United States Navy, he held various positions at North Carolina State University until 1968. He then became Vice-Chancellor of the University of Georgia system. He served as Provost of Purdue University from 1971 through 1974.

Chancellor Robinson and his wife, Katherine, have two daughters, Karen and Josie, who are both married.

As the chart indicates, your printed advertising message in The Western Carolinian will be remembered longer and will make a deeper impression on the audience you want to reach than any other media. It follows then, that the longer your message is remembered, the more results it will produce. And that's what it's all about. When you spend your advertising dollars you want results. And the place to get the best results is in the advertising columns of The Western Carolinian. We're ready when you are. Call us at 227-7267.

BECOME A 4-LETTER MAN.

Why are a lot of college men and women becoming buddies in Army ROTC?

Probably because Army ROTC is full of the kind of people other people go out of their way to meet.

ROTC students tend to be high achievers who are interested in more than their studies. They're popular students with a serious side, but who like to have a good time, too.

In other words, when people join Army ROTC they often meet people a lot like themselves.

Shoot Yourself

This spring the Catamount reinstituted a feature from the 1980 yearbook called "Shoot Yourself." Students from all walks of campus life "shot themselves" with one of our photographer's cameras on a tripod, free of charge, and we are running most of the pictures in our "Shoot Yourself" section. Chances are, you will see a few of your friends in these pictures; chances are, they will be goofing off in some manner. The Catamount provides individual class portraits, but we think these photos better provides people's true personality. Cullohwee obviously has better actors than Hollywood, judging from these pictures. Who knows, you might be in one of them.

It's just natural that WCU students are born actors, and these students with their crazy antics and cut-ups certainly fit the bill. "Shoot Yourself," in its second year is on its way to becoming an annual tradition. Look for an even bigger program in 1983.

Cullowhee, USA

Well folks, this has been an interesting year to say the least. On February 8, 1982, standing in Dr. Glenn Stillion's (Uncle Glenn's) office, I had no idea what my impromptu editorship of the Catamount would bring. I knew it would be rough, I knew it would be tough, but I never knew it would be so interesting.

How do I define interesting? Good question, but I'll try. Interesting is thinking you had a brand-new typewriter stolen when it was simply delivered to the wrong office. Interesting is not having your mail delivered for a week — the week you receive a proof that is due back in the plant in two days. Interesting is a $90 phone bill! (Doug, Mark and others you know what I mean.) Interesting is doing 40 pages with the false belief that all pictures (about 4 per page) are cropped correctly, then finding out on deadline day you did them wrong. Interesting is business records — and lack of them. Interesting is not knowing what you are doing at times, but pretending you do. Interesting is watching the sun rise from the window in the Student Union Building — it's invigorating after working all night long — HA! Of course the real authorities on morning of deadline sunsets are my cohorts at the Carolinian, n'est-ce pas Larry and Jim? As a matter of fact, I would like to tell the Western Carolinian staff that 5 a.m. looks the same on a Monday morning as it does on a Thursday morning. Interesting is also finding out your best staff photographers got their cameras stolen during one of the most important weeks of campus activity.

But interesting is also making professional and personal friends that will stick by you even when you don't always have the best answer to their questions. Interesting is having staff members and friends that put up with your many and varied idiosyncracies and stay with you 'til the end. Interesting is realizing a near impossible task is not impossible when you have the right people helping you. Interesting is watching people develop professionally. Interesting is dealing with faculty and administrators that you wouldn't have the chance to deal with otherwise. Interesting is the awesome anticipation of yearbook publication and being excited and paranoid in the same breath. Interesting is using the services of good writers, layout people and especially photographers to make what you hope will be a good publication. Interesting is six months of your life that you'll remember forever.

Despite the fact that it is 10 a.m. on a Monday morning and I, and next year's editor, MJ Schutz, have gotten one hour of sleep in the past 24, I wouldn't change a thing about the 1982 yearbook and its production. It's been hectic, but it's been fun and interesting.

Naturally, I couldn't close the yearbook without thanking the many people who have made this publication possible. First, the administrators. Dr. Stillion has helped in so many ways in providing advise and reassurance, and in standing back at times and letting the yearbook be a student publication. He walks the fence adeptly between assistance and overbearance. Another administrator is Jim Wise, an accountant in the controller's office without whose advise on handling business affairs I could not have made it. Another person high on my thank list is Dick Henson, the Taylor Publishing Representative. He has gone well above the line and call of duty in showing a semi-greenhorn editor how to put together a yearbook. As far as students are concerned, I want to thank MJ Schutz, the editor-to-be. She is my right-hand man — I mean person. She has put in extra hours and effort that was never required or expected. Her morale and work has done more for the 1982 yearbook than she will ever know. Another individual that deserves extra-special recognition is Doug Cavanah, occasionally known as Doug Snap-'em-all, staff photographer, who is responsible for about 60 percent of all photographs in the yearbook. He has changed from a career in business to a career in photojournalism, and with the determination and talent he has shown this year, he well deserves a successful career. Other staff members, David Crawford, Sports Editor, and photographers Rick McDaniel and Mark Haskett, and writer Rose Pritchard certainly deserve recognition. Tim Schutz, who did not become a staff photographer until three weeks before the final deadline, ungrudgingly shot some vital photographs for the yearbook. Look for his work around campus in the years to come. LeeAnne Hargrove, chief morale booster carbon-copy drawer did wonders for the final production as did her husband Richard and his drawings in the yearbook office.

Other people whose help I am grateful for are Steve White, Harry Duke, Jo Anne Blackwell and Jim Waldroop, among others too numerous to mention.

It's been a real interesting experience, folks!
